Gov. Defends Program, 'Won't Bankrupt N. Y.'

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says the state's new medical aid program "will lift the burden of fear from people who have worried that they would not be able to meet the needs of their loved ones for medical care."

Wilson's Views:

Advocates More Stringent Plan To Reduce Costs

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R-Ulster) said today that a revised plan in the state's newly adopted medical aid program could add "at least a million dollars" a year to the Ulster County budget.

The Woodstock legislator said that "certain changes" should be made to make the requirements for participation in the plan more stringent.

Could Add Million

He said that under the new law, the cost to the individual counties "will be staggering." He said that in Ulster County alone, 50 to 60 per cent of the county residents will be eligible for medical assistance, with the county paying for a quarter of the total cost of the program.

Wilson said that even with the Federal and State Governments paying for 75 per cent of the medical aid program, the new plan could add the million-dollar figure to the county budget.

The Ulster County Assemblyman said that almost every Republican legislator had been placed in the position of either voting for the Medicare bill, as presented, or else voting against the measure and losing the Federal funds which will be provided under Title 19 of the Federal Medicare program, and also denying medical assistance to those in the State who are truly in need of such aid. He added, however, that the Republicans are now attempting to have amendments to the law adopted so that the program would apply only to those whose financial position does not allow them to receive the medical care they require.

According to the local Assemblyman, the present law will allow a family of four, with an annual net income of $6,000, and a maximum of $3,000 in savings and $4,000 in life insurance, to be eligible for full assistance on all medical and dental expenses. Wilson contended that these limitations are far too liberal, and if the financial requirements are not raised, it will bring about

Laughter, Pathos Mark TV Emmys; NBC Leads With 20

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The ex-piring Dick Van Dyke Show triumphantly collecting four more Emmys. Negro Bill Cosby thanking NBC for having "the guts" to star him. Winner Barbara Stanwyck fighting back tears.

These were among highlights of Sunday night's Television Academy Awards, a slowly paced show that nevertheless developed its own drama.

There was pathos when Paul Davis, art gallery owner, accepted an award for his wife Alice Pearce who played comic neighbor Gladys on the "Be witched" series and died of cancer a few months ago.

"I ask you to join me in a toast to a wonderful actress, a great human being and the most delicious wife a man could've had," he said.

The nationally televised program was presented from Hollywood and New York. In New York, an award to David Lowe, producer of "KKK—The Invisi-say, is to low — or moderate — income people what federal medicare is to the elderly. But it "will not bankrupt" the state government, Rockefeller said in a statewide television show broadcast Sunday over nine stations.

Called Overly Generous

The governor defended the program against a background of rising criticism of it.

Critics generally charge that the program is overly generous regarding income eligibility rules. Under these, a family of four with one wage earner would not have to pay any medical bills if its annual net income did not exceed $6,000.

Professional groups also have attacked the program as a step toward socialized medicine.

On the latter claim, Rockefeller told the TV audience there was no intention to socialize medicine.

Doctors will not be "in the employ or under the direction of the state," he said.

The three-week-old law was passed by the Legislature with only one senator and 15 assemblymen voting against it. The program is aimed at helping New Yorkers with low or moderate incomes to pay for physicians, dentists, hospital treatment and drugs.

Covers 2 1/2 Million More

Actually, as Rockefeller pointed out, the state has had medical assistance legislation for needy persons since 1929. And since 1963, it covered any family of four with net income of less than $5,200 a year, he said.

But now, about 8 million of the state's 18 million residents are eligible for the benefits. This is 2 1/2 million more than under the old legislation, Rockefeller noted.

However, he said, because all those eligible would not become sick, only about 2 million persons a year would actually be aided. Still, he said, this is a half-million more than last year.

Last year, the state's medical assistance program cost $449 million, compared with $532 million the governor estimates under the new law.

But while last year the federal government chipped in $70 million toward the total, Rockefeller estimated its share of $217 million now.

This would leave, he said, $171 million to be made up by the

Four Deaths Mark Area Weekend, 3 in Traffic

Eighteen persons were killed in weekend accidents in New York State, including a mother and daughter who were fatally hurt in a traffic accident on the New York State Thruway near Coxsackie, an 11-month-old Dutchess County infant who died of strangulation, and a 19-year-old girl who was killed in an Orange County mishap.

A 20-year-old woman, who was shot accidentally Sunday when a pistol discharged a bullet through a wall, was among 27 persons who died accidental deaths during the weekend.

During the period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday, six were drowned and two others died in other types of mishaps in addition to the 18 traffic fatalities.

Killed in the Thruway mishap were Miriana Srsic, 46, of 45-55 Henry Hudson Parkway, New York City, and her mother, Mrs.

Resnick Statement:

Suggests State Review Ability To Pay Medic-Aid

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-28th District) has released the following statement concerning New York's medical aid program:

"I would suggest that before New York State implements its new program of medical assistance that it review its ability to pay for this service.

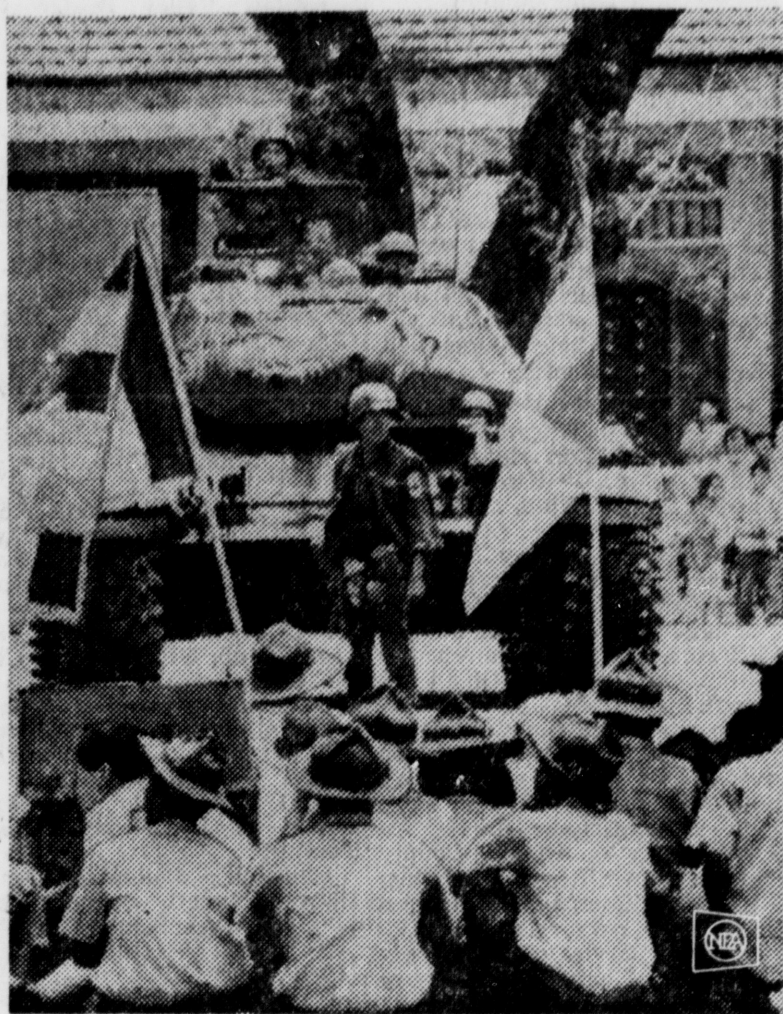

"Although federal participation is retroactive to the date in which the program is placed into effect, I believe it is imprudent of the State to begin an expenditure of funds without a guarantee of federal participation, which will be forthcoming once the plan is approved in Washington.

Not Improper

"I would certainly not suggest that it was improper to use federal-state-local funds to provide medical assistance to the children whose families cannot afford it, or to those people—disabled, blind, or aged—who can meet their daily living needs without public assistance but cannot pay for medical needs.

"But at the present time, it seems to me that the State has taken a position which commits it far beyond its ability to pay. Under the Social Security Act, Title XIX Sec. 1901, passed by the 89th Congress, the states were authorized to move ahead in four stages to assure that people who need but cannot afford a broad spectrum of medical care will receive it. In three of these stages the program would be financed by 25 per cent local, 25 per cent state and 50 per cent federal funds, but the

Work Resumed On Demolition, Downtown Area

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan and Eric Hemphill, executive director of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, today reported receiving official verification from the Department of Housing and Urban Development of a federal grant for uptown urban renewal, and the latter noted resumption of demolition work in the downtown UR area.

The telegram to Mayor Garraghan, signed by Howard J. Wharton, of the DHUD, said: "Temporary loan funds of $6,008,646 and $5,726,746 capital grant funds approved for up-town renewal project. Executive director being notified."

tion for the possible U.S. transfer of nuclear weapons to European allies.

In an interview, the New York Democrat said "it would be a betrayal of our responsibility, which is greater than any other nation's since we created nuclear weapons, to spread them to other countries."

Others Agree

In separate interviews, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, former chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, and Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., former secretary of the Air Force, also voiced objections to the Eisenhower suggestion.

Eisenhower, in a letter made public Saturday by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Rep. Edna F. Kelly, D - N. Y., called for a "drastic" revision of the Atomic Energy Act that banned the transfer of nuclear weapons to other nations.

The former commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization wrote that he feels "we should seek authority to sell appropriate nuclear weapons to other governments, under special conditions and arrangements — to be approved by the NATO organization — that could operate effectively in the defense of Europe."

But Hickenlooper said he is "against selling or delivery of nuclear weapons to any other nation" and added: "Just as a bald proposition I would be against it."

Symington said he thinks the Soviet Union would respond to any U.S. transfer of nuclear

Da Nang Revolt Over; Anti-Cong Moves Gain

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The last rebel headquarters in Da Nang surrendered today, giving Premier Nguyen Cao Ky virtually unchallenged control of South Viet Nam's second largest city after eight days of bloodshed.

Some 400 antigovernment soldiers poured out of Da Nang's

Tinh Hoi pagoda and gave up their large store of arms without firing a shot. An overwhelming force of marines and 13 armored cars ringed the Buddhist stronghold.

The capitulation came less than 12 hours before expiration of an ultimatum by the junta to declare the rebel soldiers deserters unless they ended the revolt by 6 p.m. About 400 rebels gave up Sunday.

Ky's success, despite sharp initial U.S. disapproval of his surprise troop movement north, gave the 35-year-old premier a considerable boost in his campaign to retain power and retain control of the army's 1st Corps area.

With the tide turned in his favor in Da Nang, Ky also moved his troops against anti-American rioters who set two U.S. military vehicles on fire outside the main Buddhist Institute in Saigon. The troops threw rows of barbed wire around the institute to contain further disorders.

Lists 'March of Peace'

One influential monk, Thien Minh, announced a mass Buddhist "march of peace" in Saigon Wednesday. He disassociated the Buddhist leadership from involvement in the rising. Minh is a lieutenant of Tri Quang, the principal Buddhist leader in the north and reputed architect of the antigovernment campaign.

As a precaution, the U.S. Command extended the nightly curfew for American troops in Saigon from 8:30 p.m. to 6 a.m. Previously the curfew ran from midnight to 5 a.m. American billets near the Buddhist Institute also were evacuated.

The fast-breaking political developments came against a backdrop of increased U.S. and Vietnamese activity against the Viet Cong.

Report 47 Reds Killed

The U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division reported killing 47 more Viet Cong Sunday in Operation Crazy Horse, bringing the reported enemy toll in seven days of fighting in the central highlands 250 miles northeast of Saigon to 207 Communists.

With somewhat improved weather, U.S. Air Force and Navy planes flew 49 missions against North Viet Nam Sunday. This was 10 more than the previous day and considerably more than last week when monsoon rains plagued the air offensive.

The Viet Cong struck back by sinking a U.S. Navy "swift" boat with recoilless rifle fire on the Dinh Ba River 20 miles southeast of Saigon. It was the first loss of one of the 50-foot, aluminum-hulled boats. Moderate casualties were reported among the six crew members.

Vietnamese headquarters said government troops killed 59 Communists out of an estimated force of 200 in an operation 33 miles southeast of Saigon, and killed 35 in another sweep in northernmost Quang Tri Province. Another 10 Reds were reported killed during a Viet Cong attack on the Tam Ky airstrip 35 miles south of Da Nang. No planes were damaged, but the Vietnamese took moderate casualties, the spokesman said.

City's Mayor Captured

Among the government's opponents captured in Da Nang was the city's mayor, Dr. Nguyen Van Man, who was considered a prime mover in the revolt. Ky threatened to execute Man as a Communist plotter last month but later backed away from the threat.

The commander of Ky's Da Nang task force, Brig. Gen. Du Quoc Dong, said the physician (Continued on Page 6, Col. 1)

City Man Charged In Death of Mate

A downtown man was booked early Sunday on a first degree manslaughter charge after his wife died of injuries said to have resulted from a beating during a domestic quarrel.

He is Daniel Hill Bailey, 32, of 167 Abell Street, who gave his occupation as "a bricklayer at Beacon," and his arrest followed a reported argument over dry cleaning and drinking bouts involving both.

Adjourned Until Tuesday

Attorney Frank Martocci was assigned by the court to represent Bailey and City Judge Hubert A. Richter adjourned the case to Tuesday. Bail was not fixed and Bailey was returned to jail.

Police said incessant crying of a baby in the second-floor Abell Street apartment led to an investigation after complaints from neighbors and when officers Meyer Levy and Duncan Greene went to the house they found Mrs. Bailey apparently dead on her bed.

Await Lab Report

Local detectives and Coroner William S. Keyser were notified and the latter today said death was apparently due to a "subdural hemorrhage of the left prietal region of the brain," but indicated other conditions could be determined after a state laboratory report is received.

Bailey's arrest was reported at 3:30 a. m. Sunday after investigation and questioning by Leonard Ellsworth, Wilmont Hall and Floyd Krom.

Information obtained by police indicates that the argument and assault dates back to about 3:45 a. m. Saturday morning, but police were not called to the house until 5:14 p. m.

Told of Trouble

It was then noted that an investigation was requested. It was also reported that Bailey had made several rounds of

Think Settlement Of Paper Strike Possible in Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Chief Mediator David L. Cole has reported to Mayor John V. Lindsay that the four-week-old shutdown of the World Journal Tribune Inc. could be settled this week.

Cole, who was called into the newspaper dispute by Lindsay, reported to him Sunday on the progress of negotiations.

Murphy Hopeful

Before Cole saw the mayor, he told newsmen he would tell Lindsay "there is no reason why we can't settle this week if all the parties are willing to cooperate with us."

Tags School Bill Set For Assembly Passage

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Speaker Anthony J. Travia tagged his revised, $98 - million school aid bill for prompt passage today by the Democratic - controlled Assembly.

In the Republican-ruled Senate, a Manhattan Democrat said he would attempt to force a floor vote on two Assembly bills designed to tighten the code of ethics for state lawmakers.

Several Statutes

Meanwhile, leaders of both parties struggled to break legislative stalemates over raising the minimum wage, providing more revenue for New York City and replacing the Condon-Wadlin law with a new statute barring public-employee strikes.

These were among a variety of controversial issues awaiting the Legislature's attention as the Senate and Assembly returned to working session this afternoon.

The steadily mounting backlog of unresolved disputes prompted Travia to dismiss any hope of bringing the 1966 session to a close before Memorial Day, as the leaders once hoped.

"It's impossible... there's just too much to do," there's just too much to do," the Legislature's ranking Democrat declared.

His GOP counterpart, Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, insisted, however, that the goal still might be achieved

"if we can get down to business."

The school-aid hassle was one outstanding issue that might be resolved this week.

Disagree on Details

Democrats and Republicans have agreed to provide an extra $98 million in aid during the next school year, but they have disagreed over details.

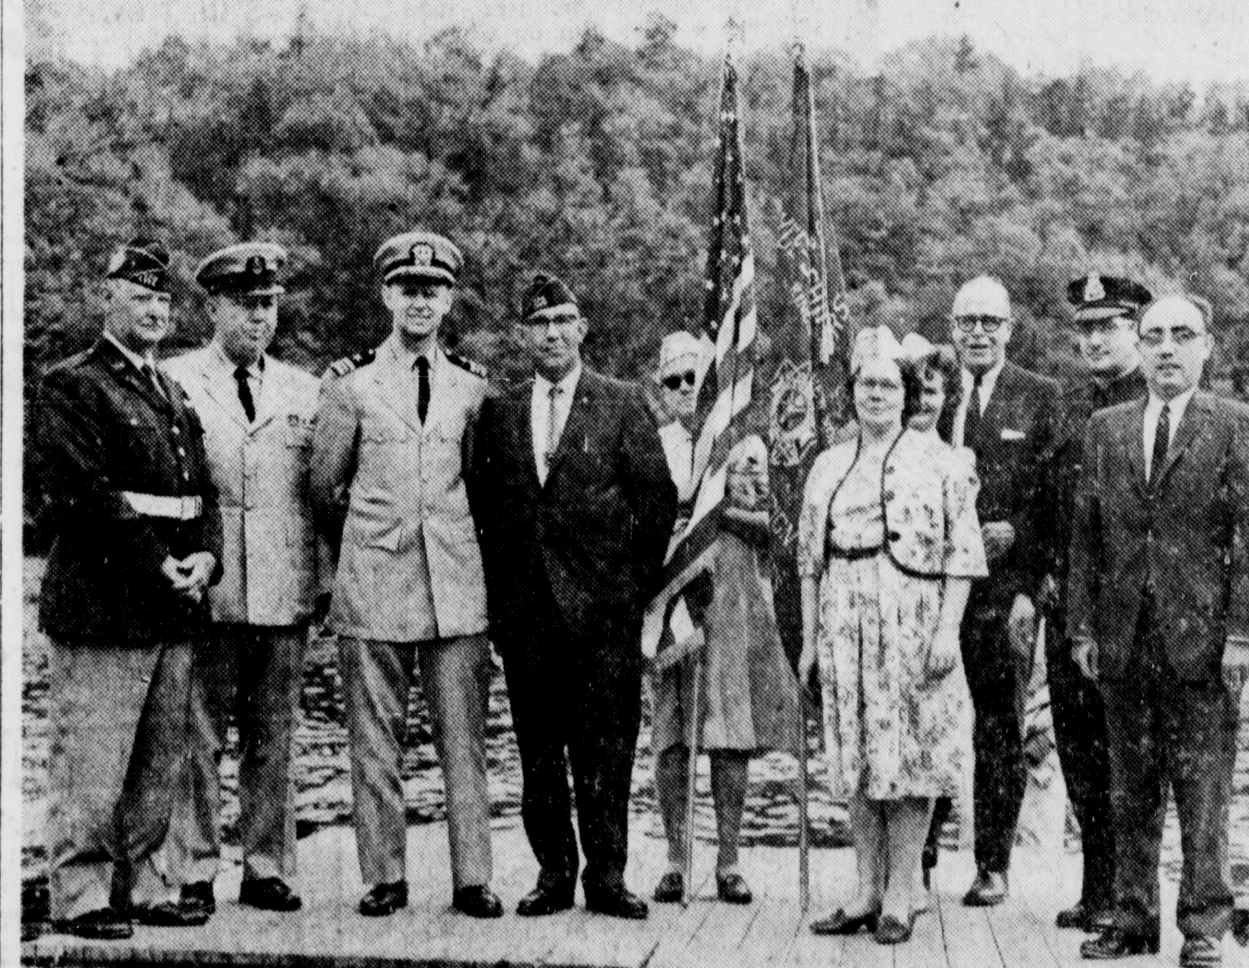

Last week, Travia revised his "last-offer" plan of the previous week to reflect a change sought by the Republicans, at the same time incorporating a feature he wanted himself.

The result of the first change would be to renew about $5.8 million in temporary, special aid for about 148 school districts that have relatively high real-property valuations.

The second change would make permanent a new feature designed to provide about $22 million in aid for so-called "low - spender" districts. It would permit them to use current expense figures in computing their aid entitlement, instead of last year's figures. Republicans had proposed to do this for one year, subject to renewal.

The Travia bill omits, however, a Republican proposal to extend "density" aid—now given to the state's six largest cities — to about 40 medium-sized cities and school districts.

Approve $88,232 Federal Grant for Migrant Schools

A grant of $88,232, for the Southern Ulster County Migrants Assistance Committee was made public today by Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick.

The grant will be spread over a 12-month period and will be used to set up schools for the 1,000 expected migrant workers this year and also the 400 migrants who have made Southern Ulster their permanent home.

There will be 20 professional teachers hired, 20 non-professional teachers and seven community developers.

A spokesman from Resnick's office pointed out that the grant was realized through the hard work of the Rev. Albert C. May, pastor of the Highland Presbyterian Church and temporary secretary of the committee and the Rev. Arthur A. Hewitt, pastor of the Milton-Maribobo Methodist church and temporary president of the committee.

Start Poppy Sale Of Esopus Legion

The annual Poppy Sale of the Town of Esopus, American Legion Auxiliary, 1298, Port Ewen, is now being conducted throughout the township. General Chairman Mrs. Betty Sanford, announced today.

"Let us forget — wear a Poppy." This is the message of the American Legion Auxiliary to the people of Town of Esopus. The memorial Poppies have been made for the Auxiliary, by disabled war veterans, working in hospitals and convalescent home workshops.

Mrs. Sanford stated these poppies are fashioned from crepe paper and wire stems and their production provides an interesting diversion for many hospitalized veterans. The work is considered valuable as an occupational therapy and gives the veterans an encouraging experience of earning money once again. All material is supplied without cost by the American Legion Auxiliary.

All contributions received from the public is used solely for rehabilitation and child welfare programs conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary.

"Let us not forget the boys in Viet Nam."

Poppies will be offered at business places and post offices throughout the Town of Esopus.

Area Residents Received $15M In SS Benefits

In Ulster County 16,839 people received a total of 15½ million dollars in social security benefits in 1965, George J. Habernig, social security district manager in Kingston, revealed today, an increase of two million dollars and 866 people over the year before.

A large part of the increase changes made by the social security amendments of 1965, Habernig said. Those changes which were in addition to the new program of health insurance for the aged, included a 7 per cent increase in monthly benefits retroactive to January 1965; benefits for widows as

Ulster County	State
1. Retired worker	$ 90.80
2. Disabled workers	99.30
3. Wives and dependent husbands of retired workers	100.40
4. Wives and dependent husbands of disabled workers	46.30
5. Children of retired and deceased workers	38.50
6. Children of disabled workers	64.90
7. Widows and widowers	36.50
8. Widowed mothers	74.70
9. Dependent parents of deceased workers	72.60

Older People Benefit

"In addition to the people who began getting benefits in 1965 because of these changes," he continued, "a good many older people who, upon applying for medicare, found they were eligible for regular social security benefits, too. All in all, the 1965 figures for Ulster include 9745 retired workers, 543 disabled workers and their families, and 3640 wives and children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers. The average monthly social security benefit for Ulster County beneficiaries in 1965 was as follows:

"These figures," Habernig said, "show how wide the protection offered by social security has become. Just about every man, woman and child in Ulster County has in social security the assurance that loss of income because of retirement, disability or death will not result in destitution—and now with medicare everyone has the assurance that the costs of operations or medical services in his later years will not wipe out his savings."

Methodists Vote Proposed Merger At Upstate Meet

NEW HARTFORD, N.Y. (AP) — The Northern New York Methodist Conference approves of a proposed merger between the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

About 1,000 lay and clerical delegates to the 94th meeting voted approval of the merger in a resolution Saturday.

No further action will be taken, however, until the national meeting convenes this summer in Chicago.

Meanwhile, in Endicott, nearly 50 pastoral appointments were announced Sunday for the Wyoming Methodist Conference.

An estimated 2,000 persons attended ceremonies concluding the five-day meeting of the Wyoming Conference, which has two New York districts and two in Pennsylvania.

At New Hartford, the delegates also passed resolutions Saturday asking the Legislature to "reconsider its actions" on the recently enacted medical aid program and the proposed state lottery.

Emmy Show Still Lacks Glamour of Filmland Oscar

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The television industry's highest honors, its Emmy awards, were passed out Sunday night in traditional show business fashion on CBS. It was a better program than last year's but it still lacks the glamour and excitement of the movie's Oscar show.

Because television, unlike motion pictures, is a two-coast business, there were assemblages in both Hollywood and New York and the show bounced back and forth between them. Danny Kaye and Bill Coshy, West and East Coast masters of ceremonies, kept the jokes short and the recipients on the move.

Dick, Mary Among Winners
"The Dick Van Dyke Show," which has concluded its run, and "Bob Hope Presents the Chrysler Theater," came off with the lion's share of the awards — four each.

Van Dyke, costar Mary Tyler Moore, the show's writers and the program itself were chosen in various categories. The Bob Hope show awards were for outstanding directorial achievement, Sidney Pollack for "The Game"; outstanding single performance by an actress in a leading dramatic role, Simone Signoret in "A Small Rebellion"; best actor, Cliff Robertson in "The Game"; and for the series as a whole, Bob Hope, executive producer.

"The Fugitive," another well-done and long-running series, was picked as the best dramatic series. Barbara Stanwyck received a tremendous hand when she received her award as outstanding actress in a series, and so did Coshy, a night club comedian turned television hero. Miss Stanwyck stars in "The Big Valley" and Coshy is a co-star of "I Spy."

Two awards went to talented persons who died during the season. David Lowe received an award for his fine "KKK — The Invisible Empire," chosen as the season's best documentary in spite of the fact that CBS, the network on which it was broadcast, did not enter shows in its news division. Alice Pearce, who played a supporting role in the comedy series, "Bewitched" was also an award winner.

"Frank Sinatra: A Man and His Music" won in the category for a single musical program. The Bob Hope Christmas show was picked in the category of variety specials.

Lot of Fumbling
During the 100 minutes, more than 40 statuette were distributed or winners introduced. The program, long as it was, went along pretty well, although there was still a lot of fumbling around with envelopes and some superfluous thanksgiving. Generally it was a no-nonsense show.

'Perry' Fades Away
"Perry Mason" wound up its nine-year run Sunday night. It was not one of the best stories the series has ever had, but it did have some interesting sidelights.

The plot swung around the murder of a nasty television star during a studio fight scene. The backgrounds were largely real spots in the studio where the show was made. Bit parts were played by people routinely connected with the show. Erle Stanley Gardner, who created the lawyer-hero, played a judge with a minimum of lines. Gail Patrick Jackson, the executive producer, was glimpsed sitting at a bar. Jackie Coogan and Dick Clark were prominent in the proceedings.

The series has been around for such a long time that the regular members of the cast are like old family friends. I suspect that a lot of us will miss the show when fall rolls around.

Recommended tonight: "The Andy Williams Show," NBC, 9-10 EDT, final show of the season with Morey Amsterdam and the Osmund Brothers.

Study Revamping NATO

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and his key advisers are shaping U.S. policy on revamping the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, while across the Atlantic officials are reported studying ways NATO could play a role in future East-West fence mending.

Johnson met for an hour at the White House Friday night with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, presidential national security affairs adviser Walt W. Rostow, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and Dean Acheson, former secretary of state now advising on NATO affairs.

Reports indicated the discussion centered on a meeting of NATO ministers June 6-8 in Brussels. The United States reportedly will urge moving NATO's military and political headquarters from Paris to Belgium, streamlining the NATO setup and giving West Germany a bigger role.

Samuels Assails Rocky's Project On Scenic Beauty

HYDE PARK — Howard J. Samuels, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, said Saturday night that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's "on-again, off-again" attitude toward the Hudson River Valley was "a model of what not to do in approaching problems of conservation and scenic beauty."

Samuels said the Governor's "vacillation" was typical of his administration's record in other vital areas, reflecting "a lack of any real planning or conviction and the willingness to drift from crisis to crisis." The 46-year-old industrialist's remarks were in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual dinner-dance of the Hyde Park Women's Democratic Club in the Alpine Restaurant, Violet Avenue, Hyde Park.

Excerpt of Samuel's remarks follow:

"The Storm King proposal stirred up controversy which will have longrange beneficial effects for it focused public attention on the Hudson Valley, this national scenic riverway."

"We will always be indebted to Congressman Dick Ottinger for the swift and constructive action he took in proposing legislation to create a partnership among the federal, state and local governments to protect scenic easements along the Hudson and conserve this irreplaceable natural resource."

"This was a good and popular move. Governor Rockefeller, apparently fearing he would be overshadowed in an election year, countered with an attempt to limit the role of the federal government, he rushed bills through the legislature setting up the Hudson Valley Scenic and Historic Corridor and The Hudson River Valley Commission."

"Governor Rockefeller has a history of sensitivity to community needs when an election year rolls around. He never takes the people in as partners, however. To the contrary, he walks in fear of the people as was demonstrated in his refusal to permit a state-wide primary in which his own renomination might be challenged."

"As you know, the Governor at first agreed tacitly to the Storm King project and vigorously opposed federal intervention."

"This is no longer the case. Now he favors federal help."

"Initially, he strongly opposed the conservationists, saying the economic factors outweighed the considerations of beauty and natural resources. Now he says—and I quote—the consideration of beauty should be paramount."

TWO SAFETY MEASURES

Remote control for highway safety and the application to highway traffic of techniques now being used by airports is being discussed by safety experts. The forecast is that this technique will be used by auto traffic in the not too distant future.

Someday there probably will be a completely automated highway, but in the meantime it would be well for motorists to consider the results of a four-year study into 150 fatal traffic accidents. As brought out by James L. Tolley, General Motors regional public relations manager, before the Kingston Rotary Club three factors, the driver, the roadway and the vehicle were involved in these fatal accidents. More than 90 per cent of the accidents could be determined immediately as having resulted from "driver misjudgment" such as drinking and driving, falling asleep, driving too fast for conditions and having a car in poor mechanical condition.

Nearly nine out of ten of the drivers and more than six out of ten of the passengers in the right front seat who were ejected and killed would have survived had they been wearing seat belts. In the total study approximately one half of the victims would have been saved through the use of restraining devices.

The leading cause of death in the accident study was drivers and passengers being thrown out of cars.

Wearing seat belts and making sure the car doors are locked are two important factors in keeping occupants inside the vehicle. The car forms a protective shell that can absorb a severe impact.

By observing these two safety measures, we may be able to reverse the mounting highway fatalities over the long Memorial Day weekend.

FACTOR IN ACCIDENTS

A highway patrol survey of fatal accidents in a Western state has turned up some suggestive findings as to a possible contributing cause that has heretofore not received much attention. A high percentage of drivers in the fatal accidents studied had substantial amounts of carbon monoxide in their blood.

It does not follow that carbon monoxide contributed to the accident in each of these instances. There is some reason for concluding, however, that this deadly gas—especially in cases where alcohol was also present in the blood—might have been a factor. At the very least, further study of the effects of carbon monoxide, alone or in combination with alcohol, is warranted by what this limited survey showed.

Forty-seven per cent of the drivers on whom tests were made had been drinking before the accident. Twenty-eight per cent of them were legally drunk. This tends to bear out the general conclusion that alcohol is an important factor in accidents.

In addition, however, 59 per cent of the drivers tested were found to have at least a 5 per cent saturation of carbon monoxide in the blood, and 22 per cent had at least a 10 per cent saturation. The effects of carbon monoxide are not precisely known. Some medical authorities believe, however, that as little as 5 per cent will affect vision. Headaches and nausea are brought on by a 10 per cent saturation, and 20 per cent causes extreme drowsiness.

Further medical study is indicated. Also, systematic inspection to check for exhaust leaks might help. Clearly, more should be known about the possible role of carbon monoxide in auto accidents.

Prospects for orderly transition to civilian government in South Vietnam seem dim now. Does anyone hear Premier Ky weeping?

Kosygin uses a low key approach in his state visit to the United Arab Republic. That's a switch. The Soviet leaders used to depend on low blows.

Sukarno says he's willing to talk with Malaysian leaders. It's not much—but, as the late Jawaharlal Nehru once said, "Jaw, jaw is better than war, war."

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
THE COMPANY THAT LED THE MARKET DOWN

The giant American Telephone and Telegraph Company—"Mother Bell"—was the harbinger of the bear market long before Detroit got into trouble. It was not because of any failure to perform: AT and T has been right up there with General Motors in a seesaw one-two contest for the title of highest profit maker in the world. Moreover, its profits have been diffused among more than two and one-half million shareholders, which makes it the most important widow-and-orphan supporter in the country. But AT and T is a natural monopoly, and so prevents a shining mark the shareholders. When the Federal Communications Commission first spread the word that an investigation of Mother Bell's rate-setting practices was in the works, the stock fell.

The real miracle is that it took some ninety years for AT and T to get into a country that spawns crusaders against "monopoly" as a shad producer. Generations of politicians made their reputations attacking the railroads and the "power trust." Hiram Johnson went to the U.S. Senate from California by lighting into the Southern Pacific Railroad; Nebraska's George Norris became great by fighting the electrical utilities. But no politician has ever yet earned a vote by calling AT and T an "octopus."

The reason for AT and T's long-time immunity goes back to the pioneer manager of the company, Theodore N. Vail, who took hold of Alexander Graham Bell's invention in the Eighteen Seventies and spread it over the nation. Then, after "refining" it to become a utility tycoon in the Argentine, he was hurried back to AT and T to carry it through the shaky post-1907 money panic years and the troubles of the first World War.

Vail had a magic touch because of his early background as a high official in the U.S. Post Office. He had virtually created the fast railway postal service, and the jump to becoming the manager of Alexander Graham Bell's "toy" followed because of his interest in any and all communications. The government lost him because of a ridiculous quibble about his pay. His own troubles as a government employee who was dependent on vote-seeking Congressmen convinced him that one of the chief duties of a manager of a privately owned natural monopoly was to give Washington absolutely no cause for investigating it. Accordingly there were never any shenanigans in financing the expansion of the Bell system. When rival telephone companies were acquired, nobody pocketed any profits on the stock deals.

When AT and T took over Western Union for a brief interlude, Vail turned the telegraph company from a hated "dog" into a curious, well-managed business—and when a divorcee of the two companies was forced by the anti-trust law, Western Union was all the better for having been part of the Bell system for a period.

During World War I the government stepped into AT and T as its nominal operator. Vail's tactic at this time was to become a whole-souled collaborator of the government. Accordingly, there was no trouble with the Wilson Administration, and when the war was over the wires were returned to their private owners with statements from A. S. Burlinson, the Postmaster General, that Vail deserved a Distinguished Service medal.

In the mid Twenties AT and T steered clear of multi-type financial pyramids. The New Deal, with its "sudden death" campaign against the electric power companies for their holding company shenanigans, let the AT and T alone.

But now, after ninety years, Mother Bell is at last under attack as an "octopus." Emanuel Celler, the leading anti-monopolist in the House of Representatives, has been accusing AT and T of overcharging the customers on interstate calls. The answer of AT and T is that it has already brought its long distance service rates down to "twenty-two per cent below the level of 1940."

Whether Theodore Vail would have given Congressman Celler any shadow of an excuse for complaint is a nice question. But at least he gave his company a nine-year run without trouble, which must be a world's record for a natural monopoly. Copyright, 1966, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE WELL CHILD

Purpura Victim
May Need Surgery

By WALNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A mother writes that her 3-year-old son gets black-and-blue spots on his legs and hips with swelling of his knees and ankles. His doctor diagnosed idiopathic thrombocytopenic purpura and said that a surgery to foods was the most likely cause. The mother wants to know if any other cause is possible and whether this disease will lead to leukemia.

Idiopathic (of unknown cause) thrombopenia is a disease in which hemorrhages under the skin are associated with a deficiency of blood platelets. There are several theories as to its cause. It is more often caused by various drugs than by food allergy; but this child was probably not taking any kind of medicine.

Recent studies show that in many cases the disease is due to a parental mismatching similar to that seen in Rh sensitization. Drugs of the corticosteroid group help some victims but, when this fails, removal of the spleen may be necessary.

Q—My 8-year-old son cries at the slightest thing and is getting worse. Last night his father put him to bed without any supper because he would not stop crying over not being allowed to bring a toy to the table. What can we do to bring him out of this annoying habit?

A—A child who becomes a crybaby has usually been overprotected and has an abnormal feeling of dependency for his age. You must show him that you love him but at the same time refuse to sympathize with his bids for your pity. Discipline is essential for children, well or sick, and bringing toys to the table must be nipped in the bud. I am, however, violently opposed to depriving a child of his food as a means of punishment. Even the condemned man about to be executed is allowed to have a hearty meal. A child should be sent away from the table only when he refuses to eat what is set before him.

Q—My 8-year-old daughter has been bleeding from her kidneys since July. In the hospital they found she had tuberculosis of her right kidney. Can this bleeding cause cancer? What can be done to cure her?

A—Bleeding from the kidney is always serious. Cancer of the kidney would cause bleeding but in your daughter's case the tuberculosis would account for it. Intensive treatment with modern antituberculous drugs should cure her, but if the damage is too great she may have to have the right kidney removed.

It seems that Lady Godiva is an ancestor of Queen Elizabeth. But British fashion experts object to the queen's taste in clothes, not her lack of them.

The Senate moves toward a closer watch on the CIA—which may henceforth maintain a closer watch on the Senate to forestall such developments.

Study of a mammoth water dispersal system in the West is proposed. A few political plums may have to be dispersed, though, before the study is approved.

Use of tranquilizer guns against criminals is proposed. They probably need it all right; a life of crime tends to give a fellow the jitters.

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

There is a curious link, visible only intermittently, between the distant some intellectuals feel for President Johnson personally and the disapproval they voice of his Viet Nam policies.

The manifestations of this link are complex and must be sorted out carefully.

A man in a responsible government post, not close to the President, told this reporter recently he is fully convinced from frequent talks with intellectuals that in many cases Johnson himself is their target — and Viet Nam only a club to beat him with.

In this man's judgment, these critics have been outraged and embarrassed to see so many of their long-trumpeted domestic social programs pushed to enactment by a president whose manner, habits of speech and other traits they find so deeply annoying.

The enlargement of the Viet Nam war in 1965 offered them a perfect outlet for their frustrations. But, pinned to the wall, they often shift their attacks from Viet Nam policy to matters highly personal.

MORE AND MORE, their newest anti-Johnson volleys have been accompanied by the suggestion that if the late John F. Kennedy were still in the White House a more flexible and possibly more peaceful policy toward Viet Nam would have been pursued.

Occasionally, it is even hinted that the present policy might be more palatable if Kennedy were its architect.

These suggestions come many times from intellectuals who were among Kennedy's harshest assailants when he was president. Their high regard for him is largely post-humous.

May 22, 1946—The Kingston Rationing Board's price control panel studied reported black market dealings here.

L. C. Dunne, of Kingston, resigned as president of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

May 23, 1946—Kingston High School trackmen scored a 71-24 win over Arlinkmen.

The Cornell Boat and Lumber Company had been organized with Felix Cornell as president and facilities at 330 Abel Street.

May 22, 1956 — The Clinton Avenue Methodist Church opened a drive to raise $30,000 for renovations.

A small cottage owned by Chaisson Otto, south of Port Ewen, was damaged by fire.

May 23, 1956 — The former Chokendall house on West Chestnut Street, which had housed Kingston Lodge 970, Loyal Order of Moose was sold to Frank B. Matthews.

Excelsior Hose Company was due to get a new pumper.

Theodore Sorensen, a former Kennedy aide, stepped into the argument the other day, saying Johnson's Viet Nam problems were of a different order and scale than Kennedy's and that thus there could be no way of knowing how the late President might have handled them.

SOME OF JOHNSON'S ATTACKERS look at the whole business in quite another way. They link their disapproval of the Viet Nam war and their dislike of the President in this fashion:

According to printed accounts, they accept approvingly what he has accomplished in education, housing, medical care and so on. But they find his Viet Nam policies to be a direct consequence and reflection of the personal attributes they say offend them.

Translating this into the bluntest terms, they are contending that Johnson's policies in Southeast Asia are crude, primitive, unfeeling, and unimaginative because (they believe) he is all those things.

Stretched only slightly, this amounts to constructing a generality that no man — neither Johnson nor any other — would promote or support the present Viet Nam policies if he were following decent instincts.

This is pretty astounding argument, but it is the end to which numerous critics come in their assaults.

Of course the assailants are not interested in the generality, but only in the specific human object who now occupies the White House.

IT IS AN OLD STORY today that, in fixing on the President as their target, disenchanted intellectuals consistently resort to venomous outpouring of a sort rarely directed at presidents in this century. Some say this response is just a return in kind, since the grapevine carries endless reports that the President dips his own arrows in venom.

Yet, in the end, it has to be wondered whether low-grade response leaves the critics themselves on a very high plane. Or whether Viet Nam judgments deeply invested with animosity toward the President can have much real value in a thoughtful war appraisal.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The detective walked across the vast office with a green card-board in his hand. He turned into the glass office marked Homicide and dropped it on the desk. The bald owl with the glasses picked it up, read it, and pushed it aside. "Escobedo Case," it read. "Continued to 6 June 1966. Before Judge Sullivan in BR-46, Jury Court."

Captain Frank Flanagan, Chief of Homicide in Chicago, went back to work. He might have been thinking of three growing daughters. He wasn't. His mind was on a stubborn law. Flanagan commands the hottest bureau in headquarters—murder.

He has a lot of good men: 185 detectives, 29 sergeants and 6 lieutenants.

Serious crime is down in Chicago. The movies made Chicago the gang capital of the world. Felonies have dropped 15 per cent in two years. In the rest of the country, they've gone up 18 per cent. Flanagan and his men take no credit. They just work their tails off trying to hold it down.

The postponement of the Escobedo case should have interested the captain. Danny Escobedo, 28, the Mexican jumping bean of Chicago, is a celebrity. Long after his life is over, lawyers will be leading to their feet in court to shout "In Escobedo versus the State of Illinois..."

He ranks with Gideon and Dred Scott. His sister's husband was murdered six years ago. Grace Escobedo Valterra was tired of being slapped by a jealous husband. A bullet through the right shoulder traversed his chest and he died opening and closing his mouth with no words coming out.

The Homicide group wrapped it up. They arrested Danny and Grace and Baboon DiGerlando and Robert Chan. A lawyer tried to see Danny. The cops kept him out until they had statements. The Supreme Court of the United States has ruled that this was wrong. The police had foreclosed the Constitutional rights of Danny Escobedo.

Escobedo has been free. So has Grace. Others in the 50 states may be sprung. The Supreme Court doesn't even want confessions if they purport to be voluntary. This takes the handcuffs off the prisoner and puts them on the cop. His duty now is to detect murder, solve it without questioning the prisoner, and protect the felon from self-entrapment.

Escobedo feels that the Chicago police are hounding him. I went to headquarters to check the records. There are only two sheets. One is dated April 21, 1965. It charges that little Danny sold $30 worth of dangerous drugs to a police pigeon. The money was marked. A jury freed Danny.

The other is dated March 20th, 1966. At 4:30 a. m. a squad responded to a call for help behind a shrimp house. A man named Rodolfo Cuevas had been brutally beaten. A woman with Cuevas pointed to her two brothers and Danny Escobedo and screamed "They did it!"

Patricia Galvan's brothers were arrested. A second squad car arrived and the police searched Escobedo's car. A .38 pistol was found under the seat. So Danny was under arrest again, charged with unlawful use of a

Today in National Affairs Nuclear War Picture Has Changed Perspective Now

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—How near is World War III? Will it be a nuclear war? Will it be confined only to Europe, or will America quickly get into the fray?

Whatever may have been the relatively comfortable feelings of a year or so ago that nuclear war was inconceivable, the answers to the above questions are different today. Whether or not General de Gaulle intended his withdrawal from NATO to precipitate the "agonizing reappraisal" that's going on now, the fact is the outlook is grim, and the sooner the peoples of the world understand the implications of the current discussions between the western powers, the earlier perhaps can come a world-wide recognition of the growing danger and the imperative need for preventive steps.

Indeed, the breakup of the system of land-army protection only against an invasion of Western Europe is a reality now. Instead of assuming that an invader would fight just a conventional war, it is being taken for granted that nuclear weapons will be used.

24 Hour Decision
If any kind of war breaks out, it is being openly hinted that within 24 or 48 hours, the defending nations possessing nuclear weapons will decide when or whether to use them and what limit, if any, shall be placed on such use.

A nuclear bombing of some kind is fully expected if a land war begins, whether the decision is made by General de Gaulle in respect to the defense of France alone or whether all the NATO powers enter the battle as a means of protecting themselves, too, against enemy initiative in nuclear warfare.

Meetings are going on this week between the NATO powers, and it is expected that Brussels will be the new headquarters. The United Press International in a dispatch from London today tells of the NATO conference and says that NATO is likely to "base its strategy on the premise that there is no way of avoiding recourse to nuclear weapons in the event of a massive Communist attack" and that "it can only be a matter of days — perhaps only one or two days — before NATO would have to use nuclear weapons, presumably nuclear tactical weapons, to defend Europe."

Advance Agreements
Such strategy would require quick communication, and the non-nuclear powers in NATO would be consulted. It isn't clear how such a momentous decision can be made in a few hours, but it is probable that agreements would be reached in advance on a set of hypothetical circumstances.

Admiral Alfred G. Ward, the American representative on NATO's military committee, said on a CBS broadcast a few weeks ago: "I would like to side with the statement made by General De Cumber (of Belgium, chairman of the NATO Military Committee), in the fact that the opposing side has the initiative and it is impossible for us to determine if this war will last 24 hours, 48 hours, a year, a question of years. This decision is not ours. We do not intend to start the war, and we will not have the capability of determining how the initial phase will start."

"It depends on what the objective of that opposing force is. If they have an objective to capture all of Europe, that would come out very soon possibly, and we can take such action as to oppose that. If it is a very limited objective, we believe that we should hold that to this limited objective inasmuch as we possibly can."

Eisenhower Statement
Former President Eisenhower, in letters to two congressional committees just published, says he would like to see the existing law amended to permit the sale of nuclear weapons to other governments "under special conditions and arrangements — to be approved by the NATO organization — that could operate effectively in the defense of Europe." He apparently favored selling France such weapons when he was in the White House, but congress objected.

This type of proposal, of course, assumes that "Proliferation" is inevitable anyway and that better control, at least on the front world stage, would be achieved through prompt allotment of nuclear weapons to our allies. But in Geneva an international conference is at present trying to prevent "proliferation," and the Soviets say they want to see this accomplished by mutual agreement.

World Opinion Is Key
So it looks now if all land forces in Europe may be considerably reduced, and almost complete dependence for world peace then will be placed on nuclear weapons. Only a true appreciation of the implications of these various moves can mobilize world opinion to prevent the gradual escalation of nuclear power on all sides. For the big risk still is that a miscalculation will occur and an irresponsible government will take a chance. This could bring on the dreaded holocaust.

LBJ Is Master of Partner Change at Social Shindigs

EDITOR'S NOTE: When LBJ throws a party, or shows up at one, it swings. A wife of a foreign diplomat recently confessed she finally had learned what makes a successful shindig by watching the President in action. Here's what it is all about.

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is the life of his parties. They swing because he stays and stays. And, lately, dinners, receptions and dances at the White House are lasting longer and longer.

The choicest ingredient of any White House party is, of course, the President. Everyone who comes wants to meet him — and his wife — and go home and tell the folks about it.

But, at White House parties nowadays, the guests get far more than they expected. President Johnson may show a guest the room where Lincoln slept — or even his own bedroom.

When he stands in a formal receiving line in the elegant Blue Room, old friends coming through get a bear hug and many a lady goes away with

At a party, the President encourages his young daughters and his guests from diplomats to secretaries — to swing out on the polished East Room floor in the frenetic frug, swim, monkey or the hitch-hiker.

He's even loosened the White House secretaries: Bill D. Moyers and Elizabeth Carpenter, to do the frug together.

At a recent dinner dance given in honor of Denmark's Prime Minister, Jens Otto Krag, and his blonde actress wife, Helle Virkner, Johnson summoned daughter Luci and told her to get a watusi going.

When the band swung into the booming beat of "Downtown," 18-year-old Luci and her fiancé, Pat Nugent, set the pace. And the President led the applauding spectators from the sidelines.

A lot of careful planning goes into White House parties — and the President is first to give credit to his wife and her hard-working social secretary, Bess Abell, tall, attractive blonde daughter of a former Kentucky governor and senator, Earle G. Clements.

Lately, they've included a number of stars from the Hollywood and New York theatrical set to add to the glamor.

The most popular party — and usually the swiftest — is the dinner dance with the East Room set cabaret style and ringed with small candlelit round tables beneath the huge, drummed crystal chandeliers.

The President often table hops and sits out a few dances to chat with friends.

But, he can be indefatigable on the dance floor, often keeping up a marathon pace that brings beads of perspiration to his forehead.

Bachelor military aides from every branch of the service get special White House party duty. And the President gives them orders to keep the ladies dancing.

Often, he gives orders to the dance bands to play short segments so that he can change partners frequently and he's a master at that art.

There's hardly a lady that doesn't get a turn on the dance floor with him.

Mrs. Johnson keeps an eagle eye on her husband and pops up to rescue him anytime she thinks he's too surrounded by reporters or spends too much time with some favored guest.

Protocol once prescribed that guests stayed until the President left a party. But that idea has long been a thing of the past. Visiting heads of state and V.I.P. visitors to the White House usually leave long before President Johnson tires of the fun.

He smilingly sees them to the front door and goes back to the dancing. Sometimes, the President even outlasts his wife, who is a devoted dancer hostess.

South's Talk Fouls Contract

BY JACOBY & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Today's North-South cards show a probable club slam. If respective of the defense South will be able to make his own 10 tricks plus two more with dummy's queen and jack of hearts. When you look at the East-West cards you see that all three clubs are in one hand and that South won't be able to get to dummy for these two heart tricks.

Or will he? Assume that West leads up two diamonds. South ruffs the second diamond, leads one high trump and finds out then about the bad trump break. Then he shifts the ace and king of hearts and leads a low trump to dummy's eight. East makes an unexpected trick with his ten of trumps but South has an entry for the queen and jack of hearts. South doesn't make six but he does make his five-club contract.

South was an expert but he lost his contract anyway. There was nothing wrong with his play. It just seems that he talked too much.

As soon as the dummy hit the table South said, "It looks as if we didn't bid enough."

West almost had a second diamond on the table when he heard South's remark. Then he pulled the card back and stopped to think. South was impetuous but honest so that he never would have made the remark about missing six if he had a second diamond.

West thought awhile and led the five of spades. East's queen forced South's ace. The bad trump break, South's conversation and West's brilliance had combined to cost South his game.

Faces Trouble in Hue
By crushing the Da Nang revolt in a week-long campaign of attrition and force, Ky took a major step toward reasserting the U.S.-backed government's authority in the northern provinces. But Ky still faced major opposition in Hue, the other Buddhist power center 50 miles northwest of Da Nang, and in Saigon itself.

Twenty civilian and military leaders in Hue issued a proclamation charging the junta with using "terrorism, bombing and slaughter" to repress the people of the northern provinces and establish dictatorial rule over them. They also said they would boycott a national congress in Saigon Tuesday called by the government to discuss the country's deep political divisions.

Ky gave no indication whether he would move against the Hue where the Buddhist-controlled radio has been predicting a government invasion since the premier sent 2,500 loyal marines and paratroops to Da Nang eight days ago.

Viet Private Killed

Two hours of anti-American rioting erupted in Saigon outside the main Buddhist institute after a mysterious shot killed a Vietnamese private as a U.S. military convoy passed by. Egged on by shouts that the Americans had killed the soldier, a mob of youths burned a U.S. military truck and a Jeep. "Burn American cars! Kill Americans!" the youths screamed. A toothless old woman spat on an American correspondent.

The youths roughed up the Jeep's driver, Capt. Earl R. Keeler of Glen Burnie, Md., but he took refuge in a nearby command post for Korean, Australian and other allied troops. After two hours 1,000 Vietnamese marines and paratroops scattered the mob, hurling tear gas and firing automatic weapons into the air.

There were conflicting versions on the origin of the shot that killed the Vietnamese soldier, a bicycle messenger. Buddhist monks said a GI had killed the Vietnamese. Some U.S. sources said the shot was fired by a Vietnamese guard with the convoy, but other American accounts of the incident did not say whether an American or a Vietnamese fired the shot or whether it came from another source.

Fourth Day of Disorders

The riot was the first big display of anti-Americanism since Buddhist monks led their youthful supporters on nightly rampages through Saigon for a week last month in support of Buddhist demands for a civilian government.

It was the fourth straight day of disorders around the institute, a large compound with a pagoda and barracks housing Buddhist offices and quarters for the monks.

In Saigon's adjacent Chinese city of Cholon, an explosion wrecked a tenement building, burying up to 20 persons in the ruins. Officials said the blast could have been caused by gas or the accidental explosion of a Viet Cong arms cache.

Sporadic Firing

No Americans were known to have been in the area. Sporadic firing had continued until late Sunday night in Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, but the shooting ended

Late Bulletin

Anglo Emergency

LONDON (AP)—A state of emergency was proclaimed in Britain today, giving the government sweeping powers to keep essential supplies flowing during the national maritime strike.

The proclamation was signed at Buckingham Palace by Queen Elizabeth II and read shortly afterward in the House of Commons.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the House the first move by the government was to assume powers to put ceiling prices on food.

they agreed to observe some seniority in layoffs. This is a hopeful sign, and it could lead to a resolution of our dispute."

Five of the 10 unions have reached agreements with the new publishing corporation, formed in the merger of the Herald Tribune, Journal-American and World-Telegram & Sun. They are the printers, stereotypers, electricians, machinists and paper handlers.

The unions which have not yet reached agreements, in addition to the Newspaper Guild, are the photoengravers, drivers, pressmen and mailers.

Negotiations Continue

Negotiations continue today. The guild—which represents mostly editorial department employees—struck mainly to press its demand that seniority be made the basis for hiring staffs for the three new papers planned by the World Journal Tribune Inc. The guild is to lose about half its 1,800 jobs on the three merged papers.

Fight Rubbish Fires

Firemen checked two fires in rubbish Sunday said to be incendiary. One at 8:30 p. m. was in a dump area off Fourth Avenue with units from Central Station, Wicks, Union and Cordts companies responding. The other, at 9:30 p. m., was near the boatyard of the Reliance Marine Transit Corp., 120 West 12th Street, with units from Central Station and Rapid Company responding. Capt. Harry L. Sills was in charge.

With a heavy tropical downpour, Gen. Dong said the rebel troops yielded without any negotiations. He said he told them: "If you surrender to us, we will save your lives." He said there was no other guarantee.

Dong said he doubted whether they would be punished but added that would be up to Saigon. He said some of the rebel leaders may have escaped the cordon of troops, armored cars and tanks. He also said there might still be some snipers in the city but that Da Nang was 90 per cent secure.

Twenty officers, most of them lieutenants and captains, were among the 400 rebels, he said.

Dong said 20 government troops were killed and more than 100 wounded in the week's fighting. He gave no estimate of rebel casualties. The Buddhists claimed 200 killed and 700 wounded—a figure that foreign newsmen at the scene considered highly inflated.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON, AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The cost of living is out of step with other economic signposts. Just when everyone is being assured that most indicators point to a slowing down of the economic boom, the consumer price index takes off on its own. And the direction is upward at a pace unequalled in 15 years.

Such things as new orders for manufacturers of durable goods may be down from earlier in the year—the cost of living isn't. The index of industrial production may be advancing at a less hectic pace than a couple of months back. What matters to most families is that its dollars don't buy as much.

Living Costs Increase

Economists are quick to point out that the course of the economy, as measured in industrial statistics, changes well before prices of consumer goods and services are likely to. But many a nonstatistician will be wondering if that's any assurance that the cost of living is going to turn down if you just give it time.

And the statisticians and the economists aren't too sure that it is. They also aren't too sure that the business boom is really turning down now, instead of just having a passing spell of spring fever. Or the economy might, for all they know, be having another of its rolling recessions. That is, auto sales may be off from their peak right now, but the sales of other consumer industries may keep rolling along at high speed.

Public Spends Freely

They probably will as long as the public goes on buying in quantity. And despite some fluctuations in retail sales which could be temporary and seasonal, the public still seems to be spending freely, if switching from some products to others.

Free-spending consumers, high employment, rising production costs, and the increasing demand of defense and civilian industries for materials and goods and services—all contribute to the trend toward higher living costs.

The cold statistics from the Bureau of Labor Statistics show that its consumer price index in April rose to a record 112.5 per cent of the 1957-59 average. The jump over the March figure was four-tenths of one per cent. But the eye opener was that the three-month advance was 1.4 per cent, the highest for any January to April period since 1951, when the Korean War was in full swing.

In April food didn't get the blame, for a change. The price of food was officially described as leveling off. The big jump was in services. Housing, transportation, clothing and medical costs made the biggest advance in April.

And the increased cost of these items seems, at first glance, to bear little relation to the statistic reports that show housing starts to be in the doldrums, auto sales to be less exuberant than in March, and the orders for new durable goods—consumer or industrial—to be lower in volume.

One month doesn't make a trend—whether it be in the cost of living or the statistical course of the economy. And right now this is especially true because so much of the current picture could be changed—or could be already in the process of changing—because of the Viet Nam war.

But for most people the sad fact may just be this: the dollar doesn't go as far as it did only a while back.

HEALTH FOR ALLSafe (?) At Home

How's the insulation of that electric cord so neatly tacked along your living room baseboard? When was the last time you had a look at it? And what about the wiring in that plug hidden behind the refrigerator? Still solid?

For that matter, how firm and secure is your shower mat? How skidproof is your polished floor? How steady your kitchen ladder? How safe from groping juvenile hands are the razor blades and drugs in the bathroom cabinet?

Pardon the inquisition—but the fact is that home accidents have increased to the proportions of a "major epidemic" in countries here and there around the world, according to a recent study by the World Health Organization. And the U.S.A. is far from occupying the low spot on that tragic totem pole.

One big reason is the increase in use of complicated home appliances, some so elaborate that many people can't cope with them. Injuries are inflicted by the machine itself, by electric shock, or by fires resulting from short circuits.

And the problem grows worse, says WHO—the international health body, because familiarity with gadgets around the place seems to breed contempt for safety rules.

But the old-fashioned hazards remain the core of the problem, says WHO—the booby-traps set by unsafe cooking and heating equipment, the threats of life and limb caused by unsound floors and stairs. Not to mention just plain everyday carelessness. Accidental falls in fact cause more accidents than any thing else; and elderly women are their chief victims.

Your Christmas Seal Association, concerned with general health as well as the control of tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases, recommends a home safety inventory. Better to be safe than accidentally banged, bumped or blistered.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc. — 124 Green Street.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For those of us who step into our skirts and find our slip coming up around our waist (and the slip has to be straightened and pulled down again), I just discovered a new method to eliminate all of this:

I step into my skirt, tuck my slip between my knees and then pull the skirt up!

Those slippery - slips stay down.

Ginny Madison

Ginny, you're a genius if I ever saw one.

I am one gal who isn't going to do the twist from now on.

Bless you.

Heloise

I make lots of braided rugs, and just last week I tried something which I believe will help others.

As you know, when we tear rags for the rugs, we are bothered with ravelings on so many of the materials.

I used my pinkie scissors to cut the strips. The result is no more ravel and a much neater rug.

Mrs. Nellie Klein

Dear Heloise:

Does anyone know how to get tar spatters off automobile paint without damaging the paint?

This is caused from freshly repaired roads.

Dear Heloise:

When going on a picnic and you have ice problems...

Get two or three one pound coffee cans. Fill with water. Put them in the freezer the night before — do not cover with the plastic lid until frozen.

You will have enough ice and ice water for eight to ten hours. (Also good for fishing trips). I traveled 400 miles during hot weather and had plenty of ice left when I got home.

Jack Keller

Better yet — put a plastic bag inside the can first, and fill the plastic bag with water. Then if there is any oil in the soldered part of the can, it won't get in to the ice.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My brown leather luggage is a very well-known brand.

It seems like two-thirds of the luggage coming off the conveyor belt at the airport is of the same brand and color.

I marked the handles of my luggage with nailpolish.

I save time now because I don't have to stop every piece that comes along trying to identify mine by my name and address.

Mary Andrews

Dear Heloise:

My sister (just married) had no sewing kit.

So, for a little gift, I strung different colored spools of thread on a heavy cord. I presented it to her with a little note telling her it was her turn to have the family jewels, and I hoped she enjoyed them!

Believe it or not, she was delighted.

Jean Harrold

Dear Heloise:

I live in a reading family.

Magazines can cause unsightly pile-ups and disorder.

After each one is read, it is stacked on a shelf in the closet by the front door.

Then whenever I go out, whether it is to my job or to visit the sick or lonely, I take an armload of reading material to pass on to others.

Jaycees Elect State President

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—Bernard Sweeney of Rochester, manager of Eastman Kodak Employee Photo Sales, is the new president of the New York State Jaycees.

The 33-year-old Sweeney, who was elected Saturday, was named outstanding national director from the state at last year's national convention. He succeeds Russell Fuscus of Jamestown.

Think Hershey's Statement Cut Turnout at Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some school officials say the light turnout for the second session of the draft deferment quiz may be a result of draft director Lewis B. Hershey's statement that few collegians actually will be drafted.

About 250,000 students had been expected to take Saturday's examination. Considerably fewer showed up at testing centers in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone.

At the first session May 14, about 400,000 students took the three-hour, 150-question test.

But Lt. Gen. Hershey, Selective Service director, told a reporter last week in Dallas, Tex., that few if any college students will be drafted unless the monthly draft quota jumps over 30,000 men.

Hershey said there are enough nonstudents and college dropouts to fill current military needs. Next month's quota was set at 15,000 men and the list has jumped over 30,000 only twice this year, in January and in May.

One official who linked the light turnout to Hershey's speech was James C. Windsor, dean of students at Christopher Newport College, Newport News, Va., where only five of a scheduled 222 took the test.

Windsor said he believed Hershey's statement plus the civil war in South Viet Nam and a general vagueness concerning the test's effectiveness "has put a negative tone on the whole thing."

Presbys Consider Action Against Sexual 'Anarchy'

BOSTON (AP)—Determination to resist an asserted modern breakdown in sexual standards is voiced in a proposed new creed being considered today by the United Presbyterian Church.

The church must "lead men and women into the full meaning of life together" and offer "the compassion of Christ" to "those caught in the moral confusion of our time," says the new declaration of convictions.

Up for action at the 3.3-million-member denomination's governing General Assembly, it is the first creedal revision for the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. in 317 years. The revision seeks to apply Christ's reconciling message to current issues.

Threatening relationships between nations, between races and between rich and poor are cited, in addition to the section about sex.

"Anarchy in sexual relationships is a symptom of man's alienation from God, his neighbor and himself," the document says.

Advises Negroes To Forget About Integration Now

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Negroes should forget about integration and instead work to improve their lot by organizing political parties, said the new national chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

"We feel that integration is irrelevant," said SNCC's Stokely Carmichael in an interview at his Atlanta office. "We have got to go after political power."

Must Organize Politically

Carmichael, 24, said Negroes must organize their own parties because they have been denied real participation in both major political parties.

Failure of third-party efforts, he said, would "be like the last straw in terms of doing things peacefully."

Negroes, Carmichael said, will achieve nothing unless they can build a political power base—at the local level, whether in a rural Southern county or in a Northern ghetto.

The trouble with integration efforts, he said, is that the Negro is going around begging for something.

"And all we've got is scars," he said.

Stop Begging for Rights

"SNCC has to give the Negroes across the country something that they don't have to beg for," he said. "The white people in this country want us to remain in a begging state."

The political system, Carmichael said, does not provide representation for Negroes in the cotton fields and ghettos.

"One outside the ghetto does not speak for and represent them," he said.

Carmichael replaced John R. Lewis, 26, as titular head of the loosely run SNCC. Lewis was considerably less active in the third-party movement.

Native of Trinidad
Carmichael, born in Trinidad, West Indies, is 6-foot-1 and weighs 170. He has perpetually drooping eyelids and a soft voice.

Lounging in a chair in his sparsely furnished office, he wore a faded denim shirt, unbuttoned all the way down the front, blue jeans and heavy boots.

"We have tried organizing around integration," Carmichael said. "But our experience showed us there was no need to integrate. It didn't help the poor white any more than the Negro."

Carmichael came to the United States in 1952, went to school in Bronx, New York, and was graduated from Howard University, Washington, in 1964. He joined SNCC in 1961.

Carmichael organized the all-Negro third party in Lowndes County, Alabama. The party, flying the black panther emblem, has put up a slate of Negro candidates for county offices to oppose white Democrats in the November election.

Explain Why North Viet Nam Has Few Political Problems

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

South Viet Nam is engulfed incessantly in turmoil while the Communist north — for all the outside world knows — seems free of it. Why?

How is it that the northern regime appears able to escape political trouble and control its people while southern regimes seem incapable of doing so?

Several Answers

Probably there are several answers:

The northern regime has not, in fact, been without troubles stemming from the protracted war.

Bombings of the north may have aided the Red regime in countering morale problems.

The northern regime had 10 years virtually free from outside peril and could construct and fortify a classical Communist power structure to keep its people under control.

Levitt Proposal

ALBANY — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt called upon the Legislature this week to pass his proposal for tying government pensions to the Bureau of Labor Statistics Consumers' Price Index "even on an experimental one year basis." Speaking in Brooklyn Sunday at a luncheon honoring retired teachers sponsored by the Phi Delta Kappa Sorority, Levitt declared he would "vastly prefer that retirement benefits be permanently related to changes in living costs," but would support the bill now before the Legislature which calls for a March 31, 1967 cut-off date on pension increases for retired government workers, tied to the BLS Index. An earlier Levitt proposal, incorporating a permanent living cost escalator formula in the State's Retirement Law, was passed by both houses of the Legislature but was vetoed by the Governor.

north of Buddhist opposition as such. The religious situation there is much what it was in the south before the Buddhists started to organize politically against the Ngo Dinh Diem regime.

The local faith in the north was mostly a vague mixture of animism, ancestor worship, a deep imprint of Chinese Confucianism and elements of Chinese Buddhism. Under the Communists, Buddhists never would have had a chance to become a political factor, much less organize.

In the south, U.S. influence has upheld democratic rights. Another factor was American shock over conflicts between the Diem regime and the Buddhists. And agitation, in a glare of publicity, has become highly contagious.

Under these conditions, the political elements of Buddhism found fertile ground for action. This does not mean that there is clear sailing in the north in contrast to the south.

There is little question there have been difficulties growing out of war weariness. Earlier this year, Politburo member Le Duc Tho severely lectured those who "entertain pacifism, slacken their vigilance and fail to get ideologically ready for combat."

Notes Lack of Spirit

"They see only difficulties and do not see opportunities, show pessimism, perplexity and a reluctance to protracted resistance," he complained. Too many, he said, "still fear sacrifices and hardship, shrink from difficulties, have low organizational, disciplinary and revolutionary fighting spirit."

Le Duc Tho said party members were "too coercive with the masses." The party's prestige was hurt by this because "the greatest peril is separation from the masses." In some areas, he said, there was "a serious state of disunity."

Two British correspondents admitted to Hanoi within the last year have suggested that U.S. bombings, putting the attack, may have helped the Communists sustain morale.

Thousands of people now are in militia corps. Thousands are busy digging air-raid shelters, manning defense posts, drilling. Air-defense units, mobile repair teams and first-aid groups are on the alert 24 hours a day. So many men are on duty that, the party has reported, 70 per cent of the industrial labor force now is made up of women.

The listed bombing targets have been military: roads, bridges, communications, barracks, arms dumps and the like.

North Poorer Than South

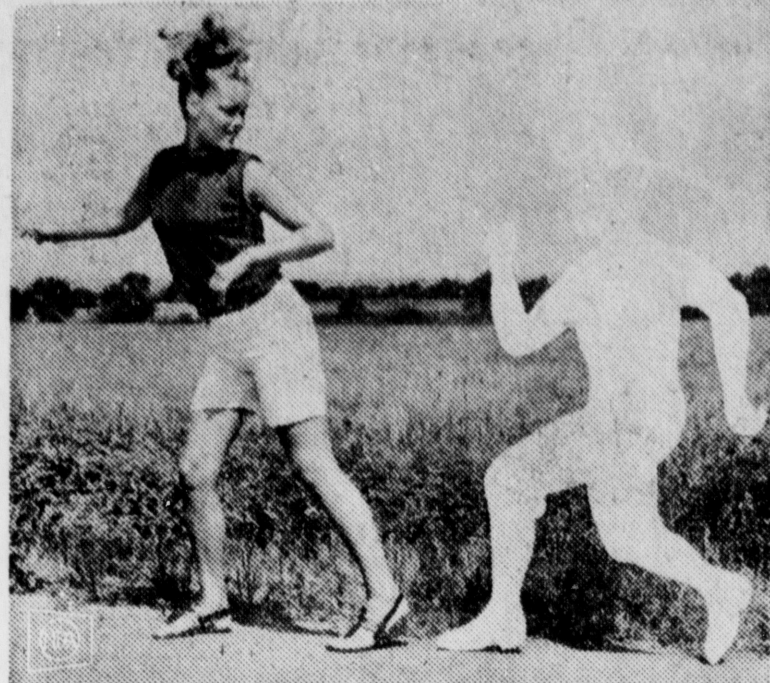

The Communist north — an area always poorer than the south — is accustomed to rural privations. All along it has been on an austerity basis. Any disruptions in the economy due to bombings have had doubtful impact.

There is rationing in North Viet Nam: rice, meat, sugar and cotton — but this is nothing new, and there are no indications of extreme privation.

In addition to all this, the northern regime has had a long time to organize. In 21 years since Ho Chi Minh moved into Hanoi with the proclamation of a republic there has been indoctrination from childhood for a whole generation.

Today there are 2.5 million children in the Communist Young Pioneers. The best get the title of "Good Nephew (or Niece) of Uncle Ho." About 1.5 million young people are organized in the Viet Nam Labor Youth Union.

George Washington of Viet Nam When Ho was building his party and country few had any notion of what communism was. He was, to many in North Viet Nam, what George Washington had been to the United States.

WHITE KNIGHT GET HIM?—No, and it's not as spooky a situation as it appears. Seeming about to close in on Mary Beth Mengel is a plastic marker that actually is supposed to be lying down on the job, affixed to pavement to remind motorists that a school is near with children at play. The pavement safety markers made by Holland-Suco Color Co. of Stockertown, Pa., are finding increasing use in alerting drivers to road hazards.

He identified himself with the peasants and championed them. He had a head start in organization. Chiang Kai-shek's troops occupied the north, charged with disarming the Japanese. They were reluctant to get out, and by the time they did and the French were on the way back, Ho was already well-organized, with Vietminh guerrillas holding much of Tonkin. Feeling against the French was high, and Ho had little difficulty in establishing authority.

The Communist structure was along the classical lines learned by Ho in the old days as a Communist international agent. It is organized at village, district, province, precinct and zonal levels in a pyramid which concentrates power at the top in the hands of the Politburo. Once that was accomplished, there was little future in opposition.

Johnson Has Often Combined Criticism and Tolerance

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sounds very tolerant towards his critics, when he's not criticizing them. He can be both tolerant and critical not only in the same week but in the same speech.

This has been going on for years because the critics have irritated him for years.

Just last week he was saying a president "will find people who differ with him, who disagree with him. We all understand that. We accept that."

Hits 'Nervous Nellies'

But also last week he challenged the critics of his Viet Nam policy to stop being "nervous Nellies," saying: "There will be nervous Nellies and some who become frustrated and bothered and break ranks under the strain and turn on their own leaders, their own country and their own fighting men."

It was one of his sharpest attacks on those who don't like the Vietnamese war and say so. Back in 1964, in office less than three months, Johnson combined criticism and tolerance in one speech. This was on Feb. 11, 1964.

"Regardless of what you hear," he said, "and regardless of what some of the bellyachers say, we are a much beloved people throughout the world." He said, "You will hear alarmists and people who like to jump on their government, people who like to criticize...join with some of our opponents and will be almost as much of a problem as some of our other enemies."

Then he became suddenly tolerant: "We have differences. Even in our own country we do not see everything alike. We must make allowances for the other fellow."

Three days later, speaking about U.S. problems at home and abroad, he managed the same kind of combination:

"Freedom prospers through fair discussion of honest differences. Both at home and abroad we welcome such discussion. But neither at home nor abroad is there any need for twisted arguments that would damage the good name of our country."

"Those who distort the truth to alarm the people either at home or abroad, about our capacity or our purposes, will not fulfill their ambitions."

Two weeks ago one Washington reporter wrote that Johnson had accepted his "critics as a way of presidential life and muffled some of his outbursts. The anger that used to explode when Sen. J. W. Fulbright took the Senate floor with attacks on foreign policy has dissolved into a kind of sadness."

Premature Mind-Reading

The mind-reading was a little premature. That same week in a speech at Princeton Johnson took a crack at Fulbright who had complained American foreign policy displayed an "arrogance of power."

Without mentioning Fulbright by name, Johnson said the exercise of power in this century meant for the United States "not arrogance but agony."

The next night at a Democratic dinner Johnson took another poke at Fulbright, chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee who was sitting a few seats away.

Johnson said he was glad to be among his old friends and "some members of the Foreign Relations Committee." Some witnesses at Fulbright's committee hearings had not been flattering about Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

And Johnson, still talking, said, "You can say one thing about those hearings although I don't think this is the place to say it."

CUE TO INVESTORS

New York City — the richest emporium in the world — has recently borrowed $241 million at the highest interest rate in 34 years. The rate paid is 4.2444 per cent. This is tax-free to investors.

And the United States Government — the strongest in the world — with tax authority over more than 195,000,000 individuals and thousands of leading corporations, also is paying a high interest rate on its obligations.

Late in April, 1966, the U.S. debt totaled $320,390,000,000. Uncle Sam is the biggest borrower in the universe. Within a year — April, 1965-April, 1966 — his debt increased by $2,500,000,000 despite high personal income and corporation taxes.

In the national economic and financial picture, this fact is ironical: at the very time when the richest city in the world and the strongest government are paying high rates for money, investors are buying risk-laden stocks, selling to yield very small returns.

An investor acquaintance of mine has just bought a diversified fund of "romance" equities for $10,000—Texas Instruments, Xerox, IBM, and Fairchild Camera—disregarding completely the age-old requirement of fair yield.

Speculation more and more is actuating the conduct of conservative investors. That is one reason why the city of New York and the U.S. Government are paying such high interest rates when they borrow.

I think the theme of this article is something that millions of investors and speculators should heed. Nobody knows when the tide will turn and safety and good income will again come into their own.

As this is written, there are 15 different U. S. Treasury bonds available for investment with yields to maturity of from 4.85 per cent to 4.95 per cent. All of these obligations are selling at interesting discounts from face value.

For example, the Treasury 4 per cent bonds due in August, 1972, can be bought for about 95 cents on the dollar, affording a yield to maturity of about 4.9 per cent. The bonds will be paid off at 100; thus, purchasers will reap a $50 profit if they are held until 1972.

Speculation is too rife; investment too neglected. Of course, in the background is the bugaboo of inflation — the deterioration of the buying power of the dollar.

Many readers of this column who send me their lists of risk-laden stocks paying small dividends should revise their holdings completely if suitable income is a significant item in their financial welfare.

Before me is a list of very high-grade stocks — Eastman Kodak, IBM, and Xerox — owned by a 74-year-old investor who needs more income badly. They are worth more than $85,000. His relatives — waiting for him to pass away — are urging him to hold them. They are concerned that he will spend some of the money they want to inherit.

Well, what are potential profits for — to give a septuagenarian a standard of living he deserves or to afford a bunch of relatives money they didn't earn and don't necessarily need?

Indeed, the securities markets are a paradox. Speculation rules the roost in far too many circles.

Dear Abby . . .

Parents' Mistake—Not the Kids

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am MAD at you. Yes, MAD MAD, MAD! I just got thru telling my daughter that she is not to associate with children of divorced parents, and then you come along and say people who think that way are ignorant! Well, I am not ignorant. I am a college-educated Christian woman, married 25 years. If people want to get divorced and drag themselves in the mud, let them associate with their own kind. There is no parental supervision in broken homes. The mother is either out working or is too dead tired to care where her children are.

And daddy is either honeymooning with his new wife, or out drunk with his girl friend. And meanwhile, the kids are running wild. No, I don't want my children associating with children whose parents are divorced. And if this warps them to tears, I am glad. Maybe it will make them think twice about what divorce can do.

FOR MORALITY
DEAR FOR: So you would punish kids for the mistakes and misfortunes of their parents. You are indeed "mad."

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a college-educated couple who, instead of hiring a sitter for their three-year-old son, take him wherever they are invited? I don't mean to a casual bridge evening, but to a late dinner party to which six other couples had been invited. We don't have extra bedrooms as yet, and Mr. and Mrs. X show up at the door with their Bobby Al ready for bed. (Our bed!) They didn't ask us if we minded, nor did they make any excuses for bringing him.

Naturally, the child fusses a little, being in a strange bed and all, and his parents take turns running in and humoring him, which disrupts the entire party. These people can afford a sitter just like the rest of us, but they have taken the child with them ever since he was a month old. Any comments?

PARTY SPOILED
DEAR SPOILED: If this couple spoiled ONE of your parties, shame on them. If they spoiled TWO, shame on YOU. Your complaints are valid, but if you want action, you'd better address them to the offending couple. . . .

DEAR ABBY: My son has been going to college for seven years. He has changed his mind several times about what he wants to make his life's work and has also had tough breaks in all four colleges he has attended. People keep asking me what my son's "plans" are. I feel that as long as I am paying the bills, it is no concern of theirs. Am I right? How should I answer them?

A FATHER
DEAR FATHER: Perhaps your friends mean no harm, and are sincerely interested in your son. You are understandably sensitive, but don't bristle. Simply tell them you don't know.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MARRIED TO THE NORTH POLE" IN EASTON, PA.: Don't go to extremes. The South pole isn't any better.

Recent New Books

New books received at the Town of Ulster Library include:
Adult fiction: "The Soldier and the Sage," by Richard Hubler (a novel about Akiba, great sage of the Jewish people); "The Ski Bum," by Roman Gary; "Madness on Midsea Isle," by John Comstock (a local doctor); and "The Green Berets," by Robin Moore (about Viet Nam war).

Adult non fiction: "The Peace of St. Francis," by Maria Stico; "Mrs. Seton," by Joseph Dirvin, C. M.; (she was foundress of the American Sisters of Charity); "Mortgage Lending," by Willis Bryant; "Teller Operations," by Dimitry Wanda; "A Reporter Looks at the Vatican," by Barrett McGurn; "Legends of the Schwanung," by Philip Smith; (about Catskill Mountain region); "Coal Boats to Tide-water," by Manville Wakefield; (local history about the Delaware and Hudson Canal); "Minority Report," by Elmer Rice (an autobiography) (a dominant figure in the American theatre); "The Last Battle," by Cornelius Ryan (author of the Longest Day); "Depths of the Earth," by William Halliday, M.D. (caves and caverns of the U. S.); "Papa Hemingway," by A. Hotchner (a personal memoir); "Death of the Sweet Waters," by Donald Carr. (an outraged, expert discussion of water and what we have done to destroy our streams and rivers, beaches, lakes and how perhaps we can save ourselves from water starvation); and "Myths and Legends of the Greeks," by Nicola Ann Sissons.

Mrs. Walter Burger and Mrs. Maurice Corrigan, librarians of the Town library, attended a workshop last week at Catskill Public Library. They found it very informative since it dealt with new books in the adult and juvenile field, and since the Town of Ulster Library plans to bring the best to the public, it was very timely and helpful. It was sponsored by Mid-Hudson Libraries of Poughkeepsie, of which the Town Library is a member.

The story-time program initiated this past week on Wednesday was very well received. The little children attending enjoyed the reading of Mrs. Frank Oneto. This series of story-time programs will continue every Wednesday afternoon from 3:30 to 4 p. m. All pre-school through 3rd grade are invited to the program.

Shelving has been installed by the library board in the basement. Work was done by Jack Chase who did a fine job. Two coats of shellac were applied to them by Bette Maxson and Jo and Skip Sande, to keep them easier to dust and preserve the wood. Books now collecting for a book and rummage sale will be moved to the shelves. Townsfolk are to keep in mind that the library is a place for books and other worthwhile odds and ends that will sell for a good coming sale for the benefit of the library.

P-T-A to Install 1966-67 Officers

The last meeting of the golden anniversary year of Saugerties P-T-A will be held Wednesday at Saugerties High School at 8 p. m. Past president William Provost will install new officers for 1966-67.

Norman Bolinder will assume the presidency; John Warfel, first vice president; Miss Agnes Sheff, second vice president; Dr. Richard Nash, treasurer; Mrs. Elsie Keteala, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Baker, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Howard France, historian. A social meeting is planned.

The P-T-A spent a very active year with programs following the theme, "An Investment in Learning Will Pay Dividends in Life." Mrs. Louis Francello, program chairman, did an outstanding job, arranged for many noted guest speakers. Highlight of the year was a variety show, February Frolics, under the direction of Bolinder, Patrick Buonfiglio, Ernest Blake and Clarence Bryden. Parents and teachers contributed their talents, making it a tremendous success. Mrs. France was presented the National Life Membership for her many years of untiring efforts in P-T-A. The presentation was made at the February meeting by Robert Moser, Junior High School principal and last year's recipient. On May 17, Teacher Recognition Day, parents served coffee and cake in the faculty room at each of the schools in appreciation of the fine teaching staff.

Out going officers include Mrs. Ralph Raimondi, president; Mrs. Fred Stegmayer, first vice president; John Warfel, second vice president; Mrs. Harvey Bostic, treasurer; Mrs. Herbert Cole, recording secretary; Mrs. Baker, corresponding secretary and Mrs. France, historian.

Circus Will Come To Village Again In Early August

Mill's Brothers three-ring circus will come to Saugerties Wednesday, Aug. 3, under sponsorship of the Saugerties Rotary Club. Members of the club attending last week's meeting voted to sign a contract with the circus for a summer performance here.

Other events planned by the club prior to the visit by the circus include a ladies night this week. Since a large attendance is expected, reservations should be made immediately for the roast beef affair with John Stoly.

The organization also plans another of its many projects May 31, when members will meet at the home of Morris Rosenblum to work on benches. Everyone should bring his own tools and refreshments will be served.

Incoming District Governor Rabbi Norman Kahan will visit the local club on Tuesday, July 26. The District Assembly will be held June 28 at Newburgh to discuss 100 per cent meetings, raising the club's percentage toward Rotary Foundation and filling more classifications, among other things.

Scouts Complete Rugged Bike Trip

Saugerties Boy Scout Troop 130 left Friday from Trinity Church in Saugerties on the first leg of a planned 100 mile bicycle trip that was to include stops in Bennington Vt., Williamstown, Mass., Great Barrington, Mass., and Hudson before returning to Saugerties Sunday afternoon.

The boys and their leaders, Scoutmaster John Gade, Assistant Scoutmaster Robert Gardner, Kenneth Magyar and John Carlson, were transported to Bennington. Their bicycles were taken in a truck driven by Carlson.

They left Bennington by bike at 6 p. m. Friday night and stayed overnight at Williams College which donated the use of its field house and swimming pool to the scouts.

Saturday they biked to the Thunderbird Family Camps on Prospect near Great Barrington and held a camp fire ceremony and the Scouts received special neckerchiefs for the trip project. Sunday morning they biked off to Hudson where they attended church services and then returned to Trinity Church here, arriving at 3 p. m.

At Oregon Assembly

Mrs. George E. Transom, 19 Village Drive, Saugerties, was among the 8,000 Methodist women from all 50 states who attended the Seventh Assembly of the Women's Society of Christian Service and Wesleyan Service Guild in Portland, Oregon, from May 12 to May 15.

Representing the local Saugerties unit, she participated in study and fellowship, heard discussion on work in missions and other areas of church life at the Assembly. She said that a special feature of the event was the observance of the 25th anniversary of the Society and Guild and that reports on achievements over the years were presented, including the information that members have given $209,000,000 for various causes during this time.

Agitation Shrinks Wool

Before laundering a wool blanket, remove the agitator from an agitator-type washing machine. That's because too much "action" causes wool to felt and shrink.

Three-Day Fete Set for August

Dates for the big summer bazaar planned by St. Mary of the Snow, Saugerties, have been announced as Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 18, 19 and 20. Plans for the bazaar were discussed at a meeting last week in the school cafeteria.

Attending the session were the Rev. Charles J. Kaufmann, pastor, and the Rev. Joseph Hamilton, assistant pastor. They appointed Russell O'Dea to the chairmanship of the bazaar committee. In charge of assembling prizes will be John "Bud" Smith, Robert Schnell and Joseph DiDomenico. Nancy Buser and Sally Cullerton will serve as treasurer and secretary of the event.

The next meeting of the committee is scheduled for May 31 at 8 p. m. in the school cafeteria and Father Kaufmann has urged that all those interested in assisting and all those who have worked in the past attend.

Who wants a nothing and jelly sandwich?

Clip this coupon to make sure nothing won't happen

Isn't it maddening? Just when your tummy is yearning for a Peter Pan peanut butter and jelly sandwich... no peanut butter. That easy-eatin' peanut butter with the grownup taste has a bad habit of disappearing.

easy-eatin' peanut butter with the grownup taste

You know where it goes. On a sandwich here, a cracker there (some people even like it straight). In no time at all, what's left? Nary a smidgen.

And that grownup taste! No sissy tasteless peanut butter in Peter Pan jars. Each bite, with its razzmatazz flavor, is just what the appetite ordered. No wonder it doesn't last long.

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

By Charles L. Culver, state veteran counselor, NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, and John B. Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, County Office Building, Kingston, Office Hours: Monday through Friday, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Reservists & National Guardsmen—Going on summer cruises or encampments are reminded that they need not use their vacation time to perform their military duty. Employers are bound by law to grant such military leave provided the employee requests it.

Burial Allowance—A burial allowance of $250 is provided to the widow, children, parents or other person who pays the funeral expenses of an eligible veteran. Burial may be in a national cemetery, as well as his wife and minor children; military ceremonies or honors, and a headstone or grave marker. Headstones are distinctly engraved to indicate the war in which the veteran fought, as well as the veteran's name and other pertinent inscription. The burial flag used to drape the casket of the deceased veteran during the burial services is formally presented to the next of kin following interment.

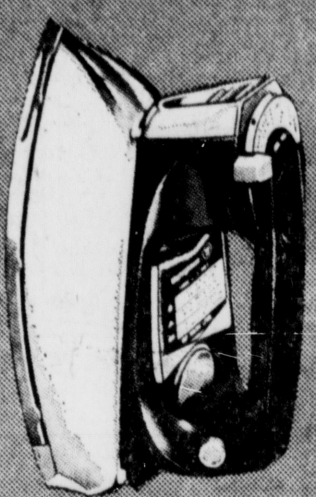

A VA Benefit Check—Arriving on or after the last day of the period covered by the payment should be returned to the VA in the event of the payee's death.

Veterans Preference—The "New GI Bill" has extended veterans preference in federal employment to ex-servicemen and women who have had more than 180 consecutive days of active duty (other than for training) in the Armed Forces since Jan. 31, 1955. Service during an initial period of active duty for training under the "six month" Reserve and National Guard program does not count.

Says U.S. Risks Holocaust Unless Cease-Fire Asked

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., warns that the United States risks a "holocaust" unless President Johnson demands a cease-fire in Viet Nam to "separate the combatants."

Morse told 1,000 persons at the State University here Sunday that he believed the President was sincere in his desire for peace but that Johnson has suffered "lapses of judgement."

Morse, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, added that the President's policies could lead to war with Communist China.

He said the bombs could destroy China's industry and "kill millions of people," but would not win a war. As a result, he said, the United States could become involved in a major ground war on the Chinese mainland.

Rolison, Head Of Dutchess GOP, Seeks Reelection

In announcing his intention to seek another term as Dutchess County GOP chairman, Jay P. Rolison, candidate for the State Senate from the Dutchess-Ulster District said, "I have no doubts about conducting a vigorous Senatorial campaign and, at the same time, carrying out the responsibilities of the County Committee."

There had been some high-level party discussions in recent days about the advisability of the chairman's to running for office and still continuing his duties on the County Committee.

Rolison's opponent in the Senatorial race, former Poughkeepsie Mayor Horace Graham, is on record as saying that it is almost impossible to run a successful campaign and be county chairman at the same time.

possibilities of the County Committee chairman."

Rolison's statement came in the wake of rumors that the incumbent chairman was reluctant to run for re-election to his post because he was a candidate for the Senate. Under state law, the 240-man county committee must elect officers within 20 days after the June 28 primary.

Rolison added that if elected in the fall, he would give "serious consideration" to stepping down as chairman.

Marian F. Domanico, William Cornelske Exchange Marriage Vows in St. Mary's

On May 21, at 12 o'clock a nuptial Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church, Kingston. During the Mass, marriage vows were exchanged by Marian Frances Domanico, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Domanico of 44 Lindsley Avenue, Kingston, and William Charles Cornelske, son of Mrs. Sophia Cornelske of 85 Garden Street, Kingston and the late J. A. Cornelske.

Theodore Riccobono was organist and Mrs. Virginia Mancuso was the soloist.

Baskets of gladioli and palms decorated the church for the occasion. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ivory silk empire sheath gown styled with scoop neckline, fitted bodice and knee-length sleeves. Her cathedral length veil of ivory silk was held by an ivory silk rose cluster. She carried gardenias with mother of pearl rosaries.

Mrs. Joyce Sheffer of 63 Lindsey Avenue, Kingston, and Mrs. Nancy Hamilton of Crane Street, Kingston, sisters of the bride, served as matrons of honor. Their A-line gowns were in pistachio green edged at the sleeves with white lace. Crowns of fresh carnations held their short veils and they carried bouquets of white carnations with red roses.

Other attendants were Mrs. Elaine Rodden, Mrs. Mel Schefel, Miss Carol Chick, Miss Kathleen Duffy, all of Kingston, and Miss Maria Stout of Ithaca. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Kathleen Chmura and Miss Robin Chmura, cousins of the bride. All wore gowns identical to that worn by the matrons of honor.

Joseph A. Cornelske of 85 Garden Street, this city, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Lee Sheffer, Ronald Hamilton, James Rodden, Richard Fiore, all of Kingston, Ronald Bahorik of Mt. Marion and Hank Hess, cousin of the bridegroom, from Easton, Pa.

A wedding reception was given at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and Becker Junior College, Worcester, Mass. While in college, she was a member of Sigma Tau Upsilon Social Sorority.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School and received his BA from Cornell University. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi Social Fraternity and the U. S. Army Reserves. He is employed by Kroeger Company, Toledo, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelske will be at home at 4201 Parrakeet Street, Toledo, Ohio.

Hilda Hopkins Cerebral Palsy Memorial Rummage Sale Set 28th at Ulster Park

The work of an Ulster Park woman who died a year ago after dedicated service to the fight against Cerebral Palsy, will be memorialized in a fund-raising project in which she played an instrumental part.

Members of the Union Center Civic Group, sponsoring organization said that the Hilda Hopkins Memorial Project—a Cerebral Palsy benefit rummage sale—will take place Saturday, May 28 at the Old Holt Winfield residence on Ulster Avenue, Ulster Park. Mrs. George Freer is chairman.

The sale will start at 10:30 a. m. and continue throughout the day, with Robert Tremper of Ulster Park, as auctioneer. It is regarded as a continuation of the work carried on by Mrs. Hopkins up to the time of her death last June.

For, as it was pointed out last year at the time of her death, contributions to the CP Center Building Fund instead of flowers, were her "final instructions."

She had devoted her life to giving to others, and especially to the children of the CP Center. A visit to the Center at 200 Broadway several years ago served as an inspiration for an annual project which she sponsored.

Sometimes it was a local talent variety show in the Ulster Park Grange Hall. At other times it was a plant sale in her home; a rummage sale in Kingston, or an auction in the old Union Center schoolhouse.

Although her sight and hearing were fading just before her death, Mrs. Hopkins engineered her final project during the middle of May. With the help of members of the Union Center Civic Group, she held a two-day rummage sale that realized the sum of $125 for the CP Center. A short time later, she died.

In lieu of flowers, friends and neighbors, inspired by her concern for others, canvassed the community to add a substantial gift to the CP Center Building Fund in her memory. Members of the Union Center Civic Group, meanwhile, pledged themselves to carry on her work. Thus, each May, the organization intends to sponsor a program in support of the CP Center, to be known as the Hilda Hopkins Memorial Project, which will endeavor to pay tribute to her "self-sacrificing, generous love and concern for others."

Mrs. Hopkins' work in Cerebral Palsy was lauded at the time of her death by Edward V. deGroff, president of the CP Center Board of Directors, and Charlotte Peck, CP Treatment Center director, who noted "deep gratitude" for her inspirational work and the Memorial donation by the Union Center Civic Group as a "loving tribute" to Mrs. Hopkins—"one that will be a living testimonial to her life of unselfish dedication to the less fortunate."

Men With Manners Are Preferred By New Miss U.S.A.

By KAY BARTLETT

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Miss USA said today that good manners for men are a must in her book.

"Men who have bad manners could be called my pet peeve," said Maria Judith Remenyi, who was selected Saturday night.

"I like men to be masculine," Miss Remenyi said. "I hate femininity."

Miss Remenyi, a 5-foot-6 brunette was born in Denmark of Hungarian parents and came to this country 10 years ago. She speaks four languages and intends to add a fifth—French—soon.

Miss Remenyi of El Cerrito, Calif., is a junior at the University of California at Berkeley. She represented her home state in a field of 49 beauties from 48 states and the District of Columbia.

A hint of the outcome was given Thursday night when photographers chose Miss Remenyi as "Miss Pixable," indicating she also is photogenic.

Runners up in the 15th annual Miss USA Pageant were Pat Denne, Miss Connecticut; Elaine Richards, Miss Indiana; Judy Ann Slayton, Miss North Dakota, and Randy Beard, Miss Florida.

Miss Remenyi was born in Tverstedt, Denmark 20 years ago. Her father, Edward A. Remenyi, was stationed there as an officer in the Hungarian army.

Eleven months later the family returned to Hungary. In 1956 the Remenyi family, including Maria and her 5-year-old sister, Elizabeth, fled from Budapest to Austria and then were brought to the United States aboard an Army plane.

"We would have gone to Denmark, but my father's sister, Carmen, had lived in California since 1950 and we decided to join her," Maria said.

The willowy, 118-pound beauty is majoring in physics and hopes to get a doctorate and do research in high-energy physics. Maria would like to combine marriage and a career and have three or four children. She has shoulder-length hair and measures 35-23-35.

She said she will use the $5,000 prize money to continue her education and take her family to Hawaii.

In July she will return to Miami beach to compete for the title of Miss Universe, now held by Apsara Hongsakula of Bangkok, Thailand.

Royal, 53 Albany Avenue; Pat Ryder, 174 Main Street; Jean Van Vlieden, 1234 Wrentham Street; Connie Whitehurst, 208 North Manor Avenue; and Helen E. Wood, 136 Foxhall Avenue, all of Kingston.

Also, Peter C. Cashara, Glasco; Lester J. Hensley, 71 Union Street, Montgomery; Oscar A. VandenDooren, Maverick Road, Woodstock; Adrian C. Verdier, 32 Harrington Street, New Paltz; and E. E. Schirmer, Market Street; Beryl and Calvin Roundtree, 6 Spaulding Court; Walter Johnson and William C. Kaufman, all of Saugerties.

MRS. DENNIS J. FERRY

Susan E. Schwarz, Dennis J. Ferry Wed

On May 14, at a 7 p. m. candlelight ceremony in the Marlborough Reformed Church of Stone Ridge, the Rev. Robert Clementz officiating, marriage vows were exchanged between Susan Elaine Schwarz and Dennis J. Ferry. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernst J. Schwarz of Stone Ridge. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ferry of Turtle Creek, Pa.

The bride wore a gown of white tulle and chiffon with a chapel veil attached to a crown of pearls and carried a bouquet of white daisies and mums. Mrs. Nancy Nieboer, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a light blue gown of tulle and chiffon. She carried a bouquet of light blue and lavender tinted daisies and mums. Courtney Nieboer served as best man. Traditional organ music was provided by Miss Marsha Green and Miss Nancy Vandenberg sang several solos. After the ceremony, a reception was held in the church hall for 60 guests.

Mrs. Ferry is a senior at State University College at Oneonta, majoring in elementary education. She is a June candidate for the BA degree. Mr. Ferry is a member of the U. S. Air Force and a graduate of the Yale School of Far Eastern Languages and the Presidio of Monterey, California.

After August, Mr. and Mrs. Ferry will be at home at Yakota Air Force Base, Japan.

STUDIOS AIR-CONDITIONED FOR YOUR COMFORT

Doing The Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

A TIP FOR A TIRED TRAVELLER SLACKS ARE SUITABLE FOR NIGHT FLIGHTS

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to Europe on a night flight next month. Some of my friends have told me I should take a pair of slacks in my handbag and change into them on the plane to save my good clothes from wrinkling. Would this be all right, or would it look funny to the other passengers?

—Joan S.
Dear Joan: I think it's really a very practical suggestion. Not only would it save your good clothes, but you would be much more comfortable, and modest, when you try to get settled to nap or rest in the limited space you get on a crowded jet. One word of warning: make your change in the lavatory as quickly as possible. The other passengers will think it's more than funny if they are kept waiting an unreasonable length of time.

When Women Must Wait In A Restaurant

Dear Mrs. Post: When a group of women arrive separately to have lunch in a restaurant, should the earliest arrivals go in and sit at a table or should they wait outside the dining room until they all arrive? In so many restaurants in the city the entry is a bar and it seems rather embarrassing for a lone woman to stand and wait there.

—Janet L.
Dear Janet: The first arrival should wait for the second, rather than go in and sit at a table by herself, and even then they might wait at least until the appointed hour in the entry. But no longer, however, because restaurants are generally so crowded that the head waiter might not be able to hold a table for the group indefinitely. When they sit down they should explain to him that others are joining them, and ask him to see that they are promptly directed to the table.

Early, Late, or Right on Time?
Dear Mrs. Post: When invited to someone's house for dinner at seven, what time is one supposed to arrive? Is it better to be a few minutes early or late? Thank you.

—Marge
Dear Marge: The ideal time to arrive for dinner would be between five and fifteen minutes after seven. To arrive much later would cause you host and hostess to wonder if you had forgotten the date. But to arrive too early is worse because you may surprise your hostess desperately removing her last roller, or your host feverishly trying to sharpen his carving knife.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that we receive each week, we'll send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette, revised by Elizabeth L. Post. The question chosen, and its answer will be published in this column every Friday. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper, and don't forget to include your name and address! (A Bell-McClure Syndicate Feature)

We the Women

By RUTH MILLETT

An expert in medical care of the aged recently suggested that polygamy — marriage to two or more mates at the same time — be made legal after the age of 60.

He claims that polygamy would be a special boon to elderly widows — since there aren't enough men their own age to go around.

Scarce as eligible men are for women past 60, I can't believe that American women of any age would settle for sharing a man with another woman — even if it were legal.

Two women under one roof have a hard enough time getting along — just sharing a kitchen, much less trying to share a man.

And what man past 60 would stand two women yacking at him day after day — and bringing all their arguments to him to settle?

Besides, elderly widows these days seem to get along pretty well without a man around the house — well enough at any rate so that the idea of having half a man wouldn't appeal to them.

It is a safe bet they wouldn't trade their independence, share the incomes left them by their first husbands, and take on the chore of putting up with a retired man for the dubious distinction of sharing that retired man with another woman. (A lot of them wouldn't even take on a second husband — retired — if they could be his only wife.) A man around the house all day just isn't as much of a joy to a woman as men like to think. (And the expert quoted above is a man, of course.)

Well, anyway, that's my guess. How about it, you widows over 60? Are you so eager once again to have a man to cook for and to try to keep happy that you would even settle for a polygamous marriage?

If there are any who would, I'd like to hear from you.

Salvation Army Marking Second Century of Progress

When you think of the next hundred years, you probably envision trips to the moon and Mars, underwater vacation resorts, automated highways, computerized households and factories and other engineering marvels.

As the Salvation Army enters its second century, however, its thoughts are quite different. It focuses on people, not things—people who need help. Human nature changes little, and people in the next hundred years will continue to face such problems as alcoholism, unwed parenthood, family conflict, illness and accidents, old age, and the apparent meaninglessness of life. During the coming century, as in the past, they will be able to turn to the Salvation Army for understanding and help.

Born in Summer of 1865

The Salvation Army was born in the summer of 1865, the child of William Booth's burning determination to bring the "glad tidings" of the Bible to the wretched slum-dwellers of London. It was not long before he realized that practical measures must go hand-in-hand with preaching if twisted lives were to be straightened. Out of this realization came the early emergency shelters for the homeless, food depots for the hungry, workshops for the jobless and an ever-growing network of specialized services and institutions.

Spanning the globe with operations in 69 countries and geographic areas, the Salvation Army of today has 8,650 centers of operation in the United States alone.

The frightened young girl overwhelmed by the prospect of bearing a baby out of wedlock can find refuge and the finest medical care at a Salvation Army maternity home and hospital, where experienced counselors will help her plan wisely for herself and child.

Haven for Many

The skid row outcast, living in a dreary round of cheap booze and filthy flophouses, may come to a Harbor Light center for free food and coffee, warm clothes or shoes and encounter an understanding officer whose words enkindle a desire for a better life. To men who make a sincere try at sobriety, these Salvation Army centers offer residence programs which give a man the wholesome living-quarters, companionship and spiritual support he needs during the difficult "drying out" days and those following. As he progresses, he will be helped to obtain an outside job and, when he is ready, aided in finding a place of his own or returning to his family.

All of these programs, and many more, are found in the heart of the Salvation Army and its neighborhood Corps—the local unit providing religious, educational, recreational, and social welfare programs especially adapted to the area it serves.

In these less dramatic, but most essential of all, centers, the emphasis is on preventing by leading ordinary men, women and children to greater fulfillment in their lives. In the local Corps those confronted with crisis may obtain immediate aid and, when necessary, referral to one of the Army's specialized institutions.

The local Salvation Army Corps also goes to those who cannot come to the Army's centers—to those confined to hospitals, nursing homes, or penal institutions—bringing personal gifts, friendship, and hope. When fire or other disaster strikes, the local Corp is among the first on the scene, with mobile canteens and trained workers.

During its first hundred years, the Salvation Army has always adapted its method to the times, while maintaining its principles.

As it strides through its second century, its officers may be stationed on moon bases or in undersea cities, but they will still be dedicated to visiting the lonely, comforting the sorrowful, and loving the forsaken.

OLD STONE HOUSE—The Mattys Ten Eyck House, built on the Hurley Mountain Road near Preymaker Brook in 1750, will be featured this year in Hurley's Stone House Day, Saturday, July 9. Ten Eyck, in his capacity as President of the Freeholders of Hurley, was the man who made the address on the occasion of General Washington's visit to Hurley in 1782. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paul, Jr., present owners of the Ten Eyck House, have done an outstanding job in bringing the old house back to its original style and furnishing. Owners of all old Hurley houses will be meeting soon to make plans for the annual open house on July 9th. (Freeman photo by John Kruh)

Woman Marks 100th, Faith Guiding Force

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Faith is a guiding force in the long life of a suburban Williams-ville woman, who turned 100 Sunday.

Mrs. Vina Dibble Hewes, a native of Stone Church in Genesee County, celebrated her birthday with a cake in the Blocher Home in Williamsville where she lives.

"Mrs. Hewes' faith has been a guiding force in her life and she frequently quotes from Biblical scripture with remarkable accuracy," said Mrs. Joseph S. Steen of Williamsville, a lifelong friend. "She is very loyal to her friends and still has a very alert mind." The Blocher Home is on Evans Street.

Three More Join Field In 53rd Senate Race

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Three other Republicans have entered a race for the GOP's nomination for state senator from the 53rd district, opposing the party-endorsed candidate, incumbent Sen. William E. Adams of Kenmore.

E. Vernon Ackerman of Tonawanda announced his candidacy Sunday. The others seeking the primary nod are George C. Roetzer, also of Tonawanda, and Walter J. Floss of Clarence, who announced their bids Friday.

Adams has been a central figure in a controversy over the state's new medical assistance law. He was the chief Senate proponent of the bill. Ackerman, a GOP committeeman, is executive housekeeper at Millard Fillmore Hospital. He also is in the insurance business. Roetzer is superintendent of the Roetzer Rigging Co. and Floss is an insurance executive.

Wallkill Nips Onteora to Take UCAL Track Honors

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Wallkill and Onteora, picked to battle it out for the 1966 UCAL track supremacy, did just that Saturday at the New Paltz and Wallkill's 119 points nipped the defending champions from Boiceville, who finished with 108.

In reversing a setback suffered in the annual meet last year, the Panthers clinched the win with a first place in the last event of the afternoon—the 880-yard relay. Onteora could have gained a tie in the final standings by winning the race, providing Wallkill finished sixth.

However, like true champions, the Panthers won the relay and the meet. A surprising third was Pine Bush with 87 points. Following the top three schools were Highland, 51; Rondout Valley, 48; Marlboro, 30 and the host school, 20.

Two Records Set

Two meet records were broken and one was tied. Fred Middleton, Onteora's crack contestant in the triple jump, went 42 feet for a new standard. Chuck Elston of Rondout Valley covered the 440-yard run in 52.7 seconds to establish a record.

Dan Riggins of Wallkill tied a mark with his high jump height of 5 feet, 10 inches.

Results:

High jump — Dan Riggins, Wallkill; Bob Crispell, Onteora; Elijah Simmons, Highland; Clarke Van Etten, Onteora; tie between Ross Carpenter, Wallkill; Charles Peterson, Marlboro; and Lee Barrington, Marlboro. Height 5 feet, 10 inches (ties league record).

NFA, Middletown Tie in DUSO; Tweedy Sets Mark in 880

Powers Finish With 105 Points; KHS Ace at 1:57.4

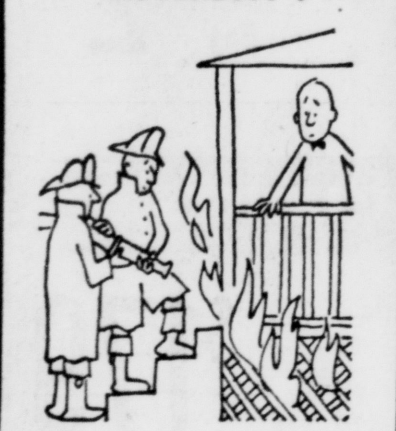

Newburgh and Middletown battled to a 105-105 standoff as five records were established and another tied in the annual DUSO track and field meet Saturday at Ellenville.

Kingston's John Tweedy continued his superlative running as he set another mark in the 880. His 1:57.4 not only broke the league mark of 1:58, set last year by Nelson Keyes of Port Jervis but also lowered his school standard. Tweedy went 1:57.5 earlier in the week against Saugerties.

Joe Smith of Newburgh set a pair of records. He was timed in 15.6 seconds while winning the 120-yard high hurdles and his 20.6 reading in the 180-yard low hurdles was also a record.

Jack Heenev of Newburgh, who was upset in the 100-yard dash, tied the circuit mark in the 220 with a 22.2 clocking.

Aaron Gets Six Hits In 2 Games

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Leo Durocher said what Harry Wendelstedt did to him was illegal. He could have said the same about Hank Aaron.

Wendelstedt, a rookie umpire in the National League, ejected Durocher from the opener of the Chicago-Atlanta doubleheader Sunday, marking the first time the Cubs' manager has been tossed out of a game this season.

Aaron was even rougher on Durocher, rapping four hits and driving in two runs as the Braves won the game 5-2. The Atlanta veteran came back with two more hits in the nightcap, but the Cubs pulled it out 4-3.

Durocher, managing again after a nine-year absence from the top job, was thrown out at the start of the fourth inning.

Durocher explained that some of the Cubs were riding Wendelstedt, and the plate umpire came over to the dugout and threatened to eject Durocher if they didn't stop.

"I wasn't the one saying anything," Durocher said. "Why did he pick on me?"

Aaron picked on Durocher, too. He went into the doubleheader with three straight hits and extended his streak to eight, two away from the National League record, before Ernie Broglio struck him out in the fourth inning of the nightcap.

Aaron, batting .250 when the day started, raised his average to .279 by collecting six hits in seven at-bats. He lashed three singles and a double in the opener and two singles in the second game.

Elsewhere in the National League San Francisco blanked New York 5-0 before bowing 7-2, Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles 4-0, Philadelphia whipped Houston 6-1 and St. Louis edged Cincinnati 4-3.

Unbeaten Juan Marichal gained his eighth victory and third shutout, blanking New York on three hits in the opener. The Giant ace also extended his lifetime record over the Mets to 15-0. Jim Hart knocked in three runs, two with a third-inning homer.

The Mets came back in the second game behind Jack Hamilton's six-hit pitching. Hart belted his 11th homer, but Ron Swoboda's homer and a two-run triple by Ed Bressoud were enough for Hamilton.

Pittsburgh's Bob Veale stymied the Dodgers on five hits and received support from Donn Clendenon's run-scoring single in the first inning and a two-run double by Manny Mota in the fourth. Maury Wills stole the 400th base of his career for Los Angeles in the ninth.

Philadelphia received eight-hit pitching from Jim Bunning and eight walks from three Houston pitchers. Clay Dalrymple drove in two runs with a single and a bases-loaded walk.

Orlando Cepeda led in the tie-breaking run with a throwing error in the seventh inning but came back with a run-scoring single in the ninth that pulled St. Louis into a 3-3 deadlock.

Cincinnati's Leo Cardenas threw wildly on the single, and Curt Flood raced home with the winning run.

SHS Wins, Loses One In DCSL

Saugerties High played 18 innings Saturday and gained an even split in a pair of DCSL games at the SHS diamond.

Coach Pete Kramer's team walloped Beacon, 8-4, in the opener and then lost a 4-2 decision in a nine-inning second game.

Lefty Bob Speirs pitched a three-hitter against the Beaconites. Starter Steve Quill was the loser. He was shelled from the mound in the third frame when the home side scored five times.

Singles by Gordon Freiligh, Speirs and John Silinovich, a pair of double steals, two errors and a passed ball accounted for the big inning.

Lourdes broke a 1-1 tie with three runs in the ninth inning and held off a Saugerties rally in the last half of that frame.

Doug Covert had stymied the visitors until the ninth. With one out, a runner reached base on an error and then John Budd doubled. A passed ball, a walk and another error gave the winners their three runs.

Saugerties came back to score once on a pair of errors but Mike Antelek stopped the threat. The Sawyers are 5-6 in DCSL play and have an 8-8 mark for the season. They play today at Roosevelt, host Poughkeepsie Wednesday and Cardinal Friday. Military Academy Friday.

Singles by Gordon Freiligh, Speirs and John Silinovich, a pair of double steals, two errors and a passed ball accounted for the big inning.

Lourdes broke a 1-1 tie with three runs in the ninth inning and held off a Saugerties rally in the last half of that frame.

Doug Covert had stymied the visitors until the ninth. With one out, a runner reached base on an error and then John Budd doubled. A passed ball, a walk and another error gave the winners their three runs.

Saugerties came back to score once on a pair of errors but Mike Antelek stopped the threat. The Sawyers are 5-6 in DCSL play and have an 8-8 mark for the season. They play today at Roosevelt, host Poughkeepsie Wednesday and Cardinal Friday. Military Academy Friday.

State U. Splits Twinbill

Bob Chibbars, a stylish ri 'ty, hurled a no-hitter at New Paltz State Saturday as visiting Cortland gained an even split with a 6-0 win in the second game of a doubleheader.

In the first game, Dan Zipkin fired a one-hitter and the Hawks took a 7-3 decision from the conference leaders.

Chibbars walked two and fanned nine in hurling his masterpiece. The home side didn't come close to getting a hit. Vince Fisher, the former Kingston High chucker, was the loser. He gave up 10 hits, including a home run to left fielder Bob Page.

In the opener, Bill Maher's bases loaded triple in the third and a three-run homer by Bob Colliotta in the sixth accounted for six of the seven runs scored by the home side.

Zipkin was wild, walking eight, but he pitched out of most jams. The only hit was a third inning single by Tom Corey.

New Paltz has a 3-5 conference mark and closes the season this week with a game at Oneonta State on Tuesday and a home assignment on Saturday against Danbury.

Yankees Are Moving Upwards

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Two weeks ago when Ralph Houk took over the New York Yankees they were both going to pot.

Now only Houk is. The new Yankee manager still can't climb into his old uniform but the Yankees have managed to climb into a tie for seventh place by putting together a five-game winning streak capped by Sunday's 5-3 and 2-1 sweep of the Minnesota Twins.

The twin triumphs were the 10th and 11th in 14 games under Houk, who took over the club from Johnny Keane in Los Angeles two weeks ago last Saturday, tried on his old No. 35 uniform and found that sitting behind a desk for two years had caused a pot belly.

He wore No. 51 in Los Angeles — the uniform belonged to Pete Mikkelsen, who had been traded — then phoned New York and asked the Yankees to get the No. 35 uniform tailored to his new measurements. Then he started to do a tailoring job on the Yankees.

Pepitone Delivers
He immediately designated Joe Pepitone the clean-up hitter, and the first baseman showed why against the Twins by driving in three runs in the opener and hitting a game-winning double in the eighth inning of the nightcap.

The Yankees still are 8½ games behind the front-running Cleveland Indians, who swept a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 3-2 and 4-1. Elsewhere, Detroit edged Baltimore 3-2, Boston defeated Kansas City 5-1 and Washington downed California 6-2 before the Angels won the nightcap 2-1.

The Indians broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning of the opener when Max Alvis singled, moved up on a grounder and scored on Rocky Colavito's single. Fred Whitfield broke up the nightcap with a two-run double in a three-run seventh inning. John O'Donoghue got the second game victory with a three-hitter and now has four victories in as many games.

Don Wert drove in two of the Tigers' runs with squeeze bunts and the third crossed when pitcher Frank Bertina threw wild on the second bunt. The Orioles had the chance to tie it in the ninth but Frank Robinson was thrown out at the plate. Willie Horton to Bill Freehan, when he tried to score from second on a single by Brooks Robinson.

The Red Sox were held to one hit by Ralph Terry until they rushed across three runs in the seventh and broke a 1-1 tie. A ground rule double by Dalton Jones, who earlier homered, and Joe Foy's single produced the go-ahead run. Pitcher Earl Wilson also singled in a run, then went on to complete a four-hitter.

The Senators won their fifth straight in the opener with a three-run second inning uprising putting it out of reach. Jim King, Frank Howard and winning pitcher Pete Richert each drove in runs. Jimmy Piersall doubled in Tom Satriano with the decisive run in the fifth inning of the nightcap as the Angels snapped a six-game losing streak.

Lucky Laird Wins Mighty M Event

MONTICELLO — Saturday's featured $2,000 AA-2 trot at Monticello Raceway fell to a wire onslaught by M & T Stable's Lucky Laird in a respectable 2:05.4. Clint Galbraith was in the sulky behind the stocky six-year-old son of Jean Laird and his victory pushed him into a three-way tie for leading dash winning honors at the Mighty M.

Lucky Laird had posted a second and third in his two previous outings at Monticello but tonight he was not to be denied. Galbraith sent the gelding to the front immediately and he was never seriously threatened thereafter.

Favored Master Star was the victim of horrible racing luck, finding himself parked out until past the three eights. Then, when he was ready to make his last quarter bid, the traffic was again thick. He eventually wound up third.

After being cut down by Aqua Land's stretch charge for driver Tom Smith. In bagging his first win of the year, Lucky Laird returned $15.80, 6.20 and 3.20 across the board.

One race prior to the feature saw Monticello honor the Castle Point Veterans Hospital in a humble salute to Armed Forces Day. The third was named in their honor and it went to Nevele Acres Nevele Day, Bob Camper driving, in 2:07.3. The 8 and 4 daily double paid $40.40. Winning horses were Taimi Adios in the first and Atlantic Stone in the second. This evening's twin double returned $916.60. Winning combination was 4-2-1-4. There were 31 live tickets. The Perfecta paid $42.40. Winning combination was 5-4. A crowd of 5,836 was on hand to wager $353,183.

Accepts Grudgingly
Brydges had said he would accept Travia's "last-offer" bill grudgingly. Commenting on the revised version, he told The Associated Press:

"We'll look it over. If it's all right, we'll accept it on the same basis as I said before." This meant that, after the Senate passed it, Republicans would press later for the additional items they seek.

In the meantime, the Senate was expected to reject the motion of Sen. Jerome L. Wilson to force a vote on two ethics bills approved by the Assembly earlier this month.

Brydges has been holding them in committee, saying there was "no sentiment" for passage of the measures in his house.

Most observers believed that the assemblymen approved them only because they knew the bills would be killed in the Senate.

One would bar lawyer-legislators and legislative employees from practicing — for a fee — before most state agencies. The other would set up a state commission to give advisory opinions on possible violations of the ethics code.

This was the situation on other pending issues:

Other Situations
New York City Taxes — Still no sign of agreement on alternatives to the $520-million revenue plan presented by Mayor John V. Lindsay. The chief stumbling block was Lindsay's request for authority to impose a city income tax.

Public Employee Strikes — GOP and Democratic negotiators were trying to resolve a disagreement over ways of replacing the Condon-Wadlin law with a more workable no-strike statute. Republicans pressed for stiffer penalty provisions than Democrats favor.

Minimum Wage — Democrats and Republicans agreed to raise the hourly minimum in this state from $1.25 to $1.50. But Democrats sided with the AFL-CIO against GOP demands for a clause that would provide exemptions for businesses that could show serious hardship would ensue.

12 Persons Injured in Four City Mishaps, Five in One

Twelve persons were injured in four city traffic mishaps over the weekend and a driver was charged with leaving the scene after one.

Five were reported injured, none seriously, after a two-car collision near 392 Albany Avenue at 4:50 p. m. Saturday.

Police said one car was driven by Herman Campbell, 40, of 24 Ponckhockie Street, and the other by Joyce Williams, of 35 Sycamore Street, who reported a mouth injury. Others injured were: Alamae Miller, 55, of 39 Tompkins Street, nose; Kathleen Holland, 49, no address given, right arm; Arvesta Campbell, 40, of 24 Ponckhockie Street, injury not noted; and Thomas Campbell, 3, same address, who was reported shaken up.

In another reported at 9:20 p. m. Saturday, at Broadway and Field Court, one car was driven by Gilbert J. Ackert, 46, of 4 Cottage Row, and the other by William Jones, 27, of 155 Murray Street.

Injured were Gilbert Ackert, knee; Ann Ackert, 46, neck; and Carol Ackert, 17, neck. They were treated by a doctor. Treated at the Benedictine Hospital for head and eye injuries was Diane Lee, of Colonial Gardens, Arthur P. Johnson, 43, of 52 St. James Street, was charged with leaving the scene after a car driven by him and another operated by Miles Bahl, 20, of Poughkeepsie, collided at Broadway and Grand Street. Rosalie Bahl, 21, of Poughkeepsie, reported head and neck injuries and was to be treated by a doctor. City court hearing of Johnson was today put over to Wednesday.

Thomas J. Barberich, 21, of Box 49, Rifton, operator of a motorcycle, and Edward Wroblewski, 22, of 32 Ravine Street, suffered multiple injuries in a mishap Saturday afternoon on Abel near Hudson Street. Police were told that an oncoming car had forced the cycle to the right and into a guard rail.

Police were also notified Saturday that Catherine Grieco, 10, of 16 Merritt Avenue, riding a bicycle, was injured when it struck something in the road on Ferlina Avenue, and she was thrown off the pavement. She was admitted to the Benedictine Hospital for an arm fracture and other injuries, the report said.

Young GOP Gives Rocky Support

LIVINGSTON MANOR, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was unanimously endorsed for reelection Saturday by the 500 delegates attending the New York State Young Republicans convention.

The delegates also endorsed Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson and Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz for reelection.

The convention represents the 25 Young Republican clubs in the state and a membership of 37,009.

Four Deaths

Brown of Leeds said Miss Srskie was driving north on the State Thruway near mile post 122 (northbound) at Cossack, when she attempted to light a cigarette. The car went out of control, crossed the highway and overturned several times.

Three Ejected From Car

Miss Srskie, her mother and Radvog Ristic, 49, of 320 East 42nd Street, New York City, a passenger, were all ejected from the vehicle. The passenger suffered multiple abrasions of the forehead, right arm and legs and was reported in fair condition at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill.

According to Sergeant Brown, Miss Srskie died of brain injuries. She was pronounced dead at the Catskill hospital at 4:30 p. m. Sunday about an hour after the mishap. Mrs. Srskie was pronounced dead at the hospital at 5:35 p. m. Death was due to deep shock, according to coroner Henry Milpaugh, who gave a finding of accidental deaths.

Discovered by Mother

Dutchess County authorities said the Murphy infant was discovered by her mother at 3:10 p. m. Saturday. The child's father is a Millbrook mail carrier and a grocery store operator. He also is a baseball umpire. Sergeant Brown said the Thruway fatality was investigated by B. C. Investigator Joseph Valtenti, Sergeant R. M. Wolf and Troopers J. J. Van Guran and J. W. Gallelli of the Leeds substation.

The shooting victim was Miss Susan E. Wilson, 20, of Watertown. State Police said she was seated on a living-room couch while visiting in Corfu when the accident occurred.

A friend, Douglas G. Schiesler, 24, of Buffalo was demonstrating a nine-mm. luger automatic in another room when it fired, troopers said.

a vast increase in local welfare costs.

No Opposition Earlier
Wilson also said that despite the fact that the Governor had outlined the new medical plan in his message to the Legislature, and a public hearing on the program was held prior to the passage of the bill, there was little or no opposition brought forth by any state-wide or local groups, including taxpayers' organizations, or by any local legislative bodies. He said that only now, after the legislation has already been signed into law, is any opposition being heard from scattered areas in the State. Assemblyman Wilson concluded with the observation that those who are now voicing general opposition to the new law are merely attempting to perpetuate the old act of "locking the barn door after the horse has escaped" but added that if the Republican efforts to modify the law are successful there will, at least, be a legislative "bridle" placed on the "horse" to keep it from wandering too far from the proverbial barn.

Venue Change Is Denied for Frisbie

A motion for change of venue in the Raymond Joseph Frisbie first degree murder case has been denied by the Appellate Division.

Application was made by S. James Matthews, counsel for Frisbie, to remove the trial from Ulster County on the grounds the publicity given the case would prevent a fair and impartial trial.

The application for a change of venue was opposed by District Attorney Joseph P. Torracca. The case was submitted to the Appellate Division on the papers and without argument.

Frisbie, 16, of Veteran, was one of two young youths who were accused of the fatal shooting of George Joseph Brennan, 26, of Route 5, Saugerties, last October 1, at a vacant house in Veteran. Robert J. Vertetis, 26, of Box 33, Saugerties (Mt. Marion) was also shot in the abdomen and knifed in the head. He recovered. The other boy, Richard Tyte, 15, who had also been indicted for murder, because of his age, had his case referred to Family Court after the first degree murder charge had been dismissed. Tyte was represented by Frank Campochiaro.

Counsel for Frisbie, S. James Matthews, moved for a change of venue in the Frisbie case on the grounds that publicity which had been given the case would prevent the selection of a fair and impartial trial in Ulster County.

The shooting took place at a vacant house in Veteran, Town of Saugerties, when the two boys were surprised in the house when the two men went to the premises to inspect it prior to it being acquired by one of the youths. The two youths, allegedly left the house and as they fled, stopped and fired a .22 caliber rifle at the men. Brennan was struck in the chest near the heart. It is alleged the shot was fired by Frisbie who then threw the gun to Tyte, who allegedly struck Vertetis in the head with a knife and then shot Vertetis in the abdomen.

Both boys returned to the scene and after questioning that day were arrested and charged with murder.

Suggests State

fourth stage would be financed at State Expense.

"The first stage would cover all persons currently depending upon federally-aided assistance. Old Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind, Aid to Families with Dependent Children, and Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled.

The second would cover people in the same general categories who do not meet requirements for financial assistance for daily maintenance but who do need assistance with medical bills (e.g., a blind person who is able to provide his own daily needs but cannot afford medical care).

Cover All Children
"Third, covering all children under 21 whose family income is too low to meet medical costs. "And finally, picking up at state expense any remaining medically needy persons aged 21-64."

"It is left up to the states to determine what the maintenance levels are for persons who would be eligible, that is, persons not on public welfare assistance but who cannot meet medical expenses. For instance, Hawaii, one of the few states to include the State funded fourth stage in its plan, has set maintenance levels for single persons at $1440 and a family of four at $3000. This includes the amount of income plus liquid assets. Pennsylvania is the highest state with the exception of New York, with levels of $2000 for a single person and $4000 for a family of four.

Five other states and Puerto Rico have State plans in effect as of March 31, 1966. (Illinois: single, $1800, family of four, $3600; Minnesota: single, $1600, family of four, $1800; N. Dakota: single $1600, family of four, $2800; Oklahoma: single, $1728, family of four, $2448; Puerto Rico, $1500, family of four, $2600; and California, none listed.)

"Only Hawaii, Pennsylvania and Puerto Rico have chosen to provide a medical assistance program for the fourth category, carefully listing that such costs will be paid for entirely from State funds, since they are not covered in the federally-aided program.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued a sharp recovery early this afternoon in fairly active trading.

Key stocks advanced from fractions to 1 to 3 points while multi-point gains were run up by some of the volatile glamor stocks.

Brokers saw it as a continuation of the rally of late Friday which rescued the list from a decline. The continued rise was a resumption of a technical rally from an oversold condition, analysts said.

At the same time, there was some encouragement linked to a smaller budget deficit. President Johnson's prediction of a smaller budget deficit. This was viewed as lessening the possibility of a tax increase—fear of which has been a major factor in the big stock market decline this spring.

Prices advanced on a broad front. Some profit taking trimmed gains as the session wore on.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 3.0 at 322.0 with industrials up 4.7, rails up 2.0 and utilities up .6. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 6.18 at 883.07—somewhat below its gain of 8.13 at the end of the first hour.

Laughter . . .

in five years, he said, to 16 Emmys.

Van Dyke has won three Emmys, Miss Moore two.

Miss Moore thanked everybody connected with the show for "five of the happiest years of my life."

Dick said he keeps his Emmys "on a mantel in my bedroom—where I can see 'em." The program wasn't canceled for next fall, he said. "We on the show decided that five years was a good round number and to quit before we wore out our welcome."

By networks, the breakdown of Emmy awards was NBC 20, CBS 14, ABC 9.

'Holy Suspense'

"Batman" (Adam West) and "Robin" (Burt Ward) presented the award for continued performance by a leading actor in a dramatic series. "Holy suspense," cried Ward.

Winner Cosby said, "I extend my hand to a man by the name of Robert Culp (his costar in "I Spy"). He lost this because he helped me." Culp also was a nominee.

An NBC source said Culp tutored comedian Cosby as an actor at the series' beginning. Culp also wrote six of the "I Spy" scripts, including the first, in which he gave Cosby the lead.

On Verge of Tears

The gray-haired Miss Stanwyck, radiant and emotional in a coral lace-trimmed gown, said backstage she didn't get up immediately when her name was announced because "I thought they said Barbara Parkins (star of the Peyton Place series). Yes, I was on the verge of tears. I really did not expect it this year."

It is the second Emmy for Miss Stanwyck, four times an Oscar nominee, but never a winner of the movie prize.

She won her Emmy as the mother of a rich family in the old West on ABC's "The Big Valley."

Jittery Don Knotts, winning a supporting Emmy for "The Return of Barney Fife" on the Andy Griffith show last Jan. 10, exclaimed: "Well, I really am surprised. Would you believe this?" The Emmy was his fourth.

Cliff Robertson, winning for a single performance in "The Game," on the Chrysler Theater, said, "I feel I'm the luckiest actor in town and certainly the happiest."

Danny Kaye emceed the Hollywood ceremonies and Cosby the New York presentations. In contrast to his breezy counterpart Hope on the Oscar awards, Kaye maintained a more solemn pace. He said he had found television "as exciting, stimulating and creative as any branch of our profession."

Writer Rod Serling, national president of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, maintained the pensive pace with a tight-mouthed welcome. "Our job is to provide the world with a kind of universal language. That is the ultimate challenge of television," he said.

Girl, 13, Is Struck; Seek Hit-Run Car

Kingston State Police today continued search for a black hit-and-run car, which struck 13-year-old Carolyn Smith, of RD 1, Box 293, Saugerties, as she was walking along Route 32, Town of Saugerties at about 6:20 p. m. Sunday.

Trooper Craig Bremer said the girl was on the east shoulder walking in a southerly direction when the car crossed to the northbound lane and hit her. She sustained contusions of the right hip, troopers said.

The mishap was investigated by Troopers John Kohland. Six youths were riding in the car at the time of the mishap.

RFK Opposes

weapons by pulling out of negotiations for a proposed nonproliferation treaty.

Hickenlooper called for amplification of Eisenhower's proposal. Jackson said a Senate Government Operations subcommittee he heads will go deeper into the matter in pursuing its current inquiry into NATO policies.

"This nuclear problem is one that we are deeply concerned about," Jackson said, "because rightly or wrongly much of the (NATO) trouble involves it. My own view is that we should be very slow to make any changes in the basic system under which we are operating."

Allies Would Oppose

Kennedy said he doubts that the NATO allies, including West Germany, would want the kind of nuclear proliferation inherent in Eisenhower's suggestion.

Eisenhower did not mention Germany in connection with nuclear weapons. But he said that to make up for the French Withdrawal of forces from NATO, "other nations, more specially the Federal Republic of Germany, should be encouraged to develop more military power."

Kennedy noted that any transfer of nuclear weapons to European countries "would tend to complicate our relations with India and Pakistan and with Israel and Egypt."

"This suggestion does not go to the heart of the problem of what we and our allies will be facing in the 1970's—what the next generation of Americans will be facing," he said.

"Our efforts in the long-term vital interests of peace for mankind should be to restrict the spread of nuclear weapons, not encourage it."

Symington said he is worried about the fact that the United States has distributed hundreds of nuclear weapons to other countries, although it maintains control of those weapons.

"To the best of my knowledge," he said, "the Russians have not distributed nuclear weapons outside their own country, even to their own satellites, let alone their presumed allies."

Last week President Johnson was reported to have discussed with key advisers, among other things, the possibility of moving NATO's military and political headquarters from Paris to Belgium, a revamping of the NATO setup and a larger NATO role for Germany.

These matters will come up at a June 6-8 NATO session in Brussels that will deal in part with France's planned withdrawal from the NATO military system.

In his letter, Eisenhower noted the United States is "deeply involved in NATO's infrastructure," most of which is located on French territory.

"To abandon, sell or demolish these facilities will be expensive while to replace them will be more so," he said. "Moreover the defense problem will become intensified in difficulty."

His advice was to "do nothing whatsoever to antagonize the French people" and to leave the way open for France to return to the alliance if it chooses to do so in the future.

Work Resumed

It involves a large area bounded by Hasbrouck and Newkirk Avenues, Murray and Maple Streets, including a former junkyard property. It also involves properties which had not been deeded to the UR Agency when demolition was in progress earlier this year.

Official notice of approval of the Federal grant for the up-town project is interpreted to mean that the UR Agency will be able to expedite procedure in getting the up-town project started. Hemphill estimated after the announcement last week that property acquisition in the 87-acre area could start before the end of the year.

Lindsay Accepts Compromise Plan For Commuters

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay, accepting another compromise on his $520 million program of new and increased taxes, says he would agree to let commuters pay a smaller city income tax than residents.

"We realize," he said Sunday night, "there ought to be an adjustment for commuters."

Lindsay made the compromise offer in an interview on radio station WINS.

Previously, the mayor had said—at least publicly—that he would not agree to cutting the commuter income tax rate.

Asked what compromise he might accept on his proposed graduated income tax, Lindsay said "a reasonable suggestion" might be to have the commuters pay half of what residents of the city would pay.

Lindsay's original income tax proposal, which has encountered considerable opposition in the politically divided Legislature, is to tax residents and commuters alike. The tax would be half the current state income tax and would raise an estimated $385 million a year.

Five Hurt, Two

burgh, Rufus Williams, 35, Clintondale, and Charles Bull, 27, also of Clintondale, were involved in the mishap.

Williams suffered lacerations of the upper lip. Williams sustained lacerations of the head and right shoulder, and Bull received a compound fracture of both legs and lacerations. The injured were taken to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, by ambulance.

According to Trooper Czapliski, Williams' car developed motor trouble and Bull stopped to assist. Their cars were parked on the shoulder of the highway, when Williams rounded a curve and hit the rear of the Williams car, pushing it into the car owned by Bull.

Albert J. Rohe, 17, of New Paltz, was charged with a license violation Saturday night after his car was involved in a collision with another vehicle on Route 299 at Route 44-55, Town of Gardiner.

Trooper Czapliski said Rohe was driving west on Route 299 and Raymond C. Conklin, 46, of Route 1, New Paltz, was attempting a turn from Route 44-55 when the vehicles collided.

Troopers said the youth was driving after dark in violation of his license.

At 9:40 p. m. Bruce B. Benjamine, 21, of Springtown Road, New Paltz, was driving north on Route 32 at Route 213, Town of Esopus, when his car went out of control in a left curve and struck a bridge abutment.

Trooper Czapliski said Benjamin sustained lacerations of the face and a broken nose. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Don's Ambulance of Rosendale.

Troopers cited Benjamin for driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent. The summons is returnable before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver, Town of Esopus, at a later date.

Two cars were involved in a collision at 8:20 p. m. Sunday on Route 9W about one-tenth of a mile south of Kingston, according to Trooper Czapliski. The cars were driven by A-nold E. Sherman, 30, of West Park, and Arthur Granquist, 58, of Route 2, Box 81, New Paltz. Lisa Marie Sherman, 5, sustained abrasions of the right heel.

The child was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance.

State police said Sherman was driving north on Route 9W and attempting a left turn and Granquist was traveling north when the vehicles collided.

Have Not Bottomed Out

Q—"A couple of years ago, I bought 100 Transamerica, selling between 50 and 54. It is now around 34. Should I buy more now to average my cost? What is your opinion about Transamerica and its future prospects?" E. S.

A—I have a high opinion of Transamerica and of its future prospects. The company is a well-managed financial complex, with most of its investments in insurance companies—mainly in Occidental Life. I am sorry that you bought your stock when it was selling around its all-time high—like many other companies involved in life insurance.

Over the past year the life group has fallen out of favor and many fine stocks are selling near their lowest levels since 1963. There are no present indications that the group—or Transamerica—has as yet bottomed out. I do not advise you to average down. I believe you will find faster recovery in California Packing, which has just raised its dividend and looks relatively cheap.

Q—"With rising inflation, would it be more sensible to invest money in stocks or pay off one's mortgage at a faster rate? I am a young married man with a wife and two children." E. M.

A—Assuming that you have a reasonably good and assured income, mortgage debt is not a bad thing—with inflation on the rise. The dollar has been devalued in this country—with relatively few periods excepted—since the Revolutionary War. If your mortgage is due 10-20 years hence, you are almost certain to pay it off with money that has less real value than at present.

Growth stocks offer protection against inflation on a long-term basis, since they have tended to move up in price faster than the dollar has devaluated. Because they are subject to constant and sometimes wide price fluctuation, they should not be regarded as an inflation hedge on a short-term basis.

costs under the new program would be no higher than under the previous law.

The Buffalo Evening News commented, after interviewing Brydges, that his plan would, in effect, have the state underwrite 25 per cent of the local payment toward the aid program in the first year.

Rockefeller, after taping his interview-type telecast Saturday, told newsmen he was willing to consider "amendments to correct any defects" in the new legislation. He expressed hope, though, that the law's main ingredient—to help about 40 per cent of the state's citizens—remains intact.

He said the program: "It's really going to take the fear from those who need medical care, want to give it to their children but are close to the margin on expenditures, and therefore postpone the kind of decisions in medical work that need to be done until they get hit later with catastrophic medical costs."

He advised New Yorkers, however, "not to drop any (medical) insurance plan until you are sure you are covered under the new (state) plan."

An aide to Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said over the weekend that the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has advised the senator's office it will approve the state's plan—as far as federal outlays are concerned—but hasn't yet done so.

Javits himself asked department officials responsible for such approval to meet with the entire New York congressional delegation and Gov. Rockefeller so the entire matter could be discussed.

downtown taverns after his quarrel at home, but had returned to his apartment after someone told him that there was trouble there. It was after he had returned that he was picked up by police, questioned and booked on the charge.

The manslaughter charge is based on the belief that the assault had been committed "without design to effect death" but was cruel and apparently committed in "the heat of passion."

Assistant District Attorney James H. Fisher appeared for the prosecution in court today.

The Pribilof Islands were named for Gerasim Pribilof, a Russian, who discovered them in 1786.

Getting married is a good deal like going into a restaurant with a friend. You order what you

Six-year-old Kathy announced to her mother that she was going to marry one of her seven-year-old schoolmates in a week. Mother asked if the projected groom had a job.

Kathy — Yes. He carries the blackboards in school.

Uncle Sam is really better than Santa Clause. Johnnie wrote Santa Clause three years straight to ask for a soldier suit.

He never got it. Finally, when he turned 19, Uncle Sam gave it to him.

$15,000 Colgate Grant

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP)—Colgate University announced today it had received a $15,000 grant from the Fund for the Advancement of Education for a study to determine the possibilities of becoming coeducational. In 1964, the 150-year-old all-male university admitted a small group of women students to its special graduate teachers program. The trustees said the admittance of the 15 to 20 females did not make the university coeducational.

Mid-U. S. Hit By Rain, Hail And Tornadoes

Severe thunderstorm warnings were in effect for much of the middle Missouri Valley this morning as heavy rains, hail and tornadoes struck the nation's midsection.

Valparaiso, Neb., was pelted by hail up to 3 1/2 inches in diameter and winds gusted to 60 miles an hour.

Tornadoes were seen near Jamestown, N.D., and Bridge-water, S.D., although no damage was reported. Jamestown also was buffeted by 83-mile-an-hour winds.

Portions of Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri were under the severe thunderstorm warning. The thunderstorms were reported lining up into a squall line stretching from southern Minnesota to northwestern Missouri.

The severe weather was forming ahead of a dome of sharply cooler air which is displacing record heat across the Great Plains.

Strong northwest winds drove temperatures into the 50s today after record highs in the 90s Sunday across the Dakotas.

Farther west, subfreezing temperatures were common over Montana, Idaho and Wyoming. Freezes were expected as far south as the rich agricultural areas of the Snake River Valley in Idaho.

Little Action Due For Solons, Hope For October Quit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Little floor action is expected this week in Congress but its committees will continue to grind away at legislation that may keep senators and House members in Washington until early fall.

Leaders now are hoping for adjournment by October, a month before the congressional elections.

Major committee activity this week centers on the Senate and House Foreign Affairs committees. The Senate committee gets the State and Defense Department officials. Both committees resume consideration Tuesday of the annual foreign aid bill.

Legislation to regulate traffic in cats and dogs used for experimental purposes will come before the Senate Commerce Committee Tuesday.

Two Senate committees, Judiciary and Government Operations, have scheduled hearings on use of the hallucinatory drug LSD.

The House Government Operations Committee will delve into such matters as drug safety, personality testing of government employees and creation of a department of transportation.

Stores With Ties In Kingston Area Changing Leaders

The command is changing among three of the nation's top retailers—all serving the Kingston area.

Sears, Roebuck & Co.'s chairman and chief executive officer, Austin T. Cushman, will retire next Jan. 1.

The firm, which currently maintains a catalog store in the Ulster Shopping Plaza, will open a large retail store and automotive garage this fall in the Kingston Shopping Plaza. A successor to run the world's largest retailer has not yet been selected.

John D. Ehrigott, 70, chairman of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., will leave his post July 1. His successor also has not yet been designated. Ehrigott is the last link with the Hartford brothers who built A&P, which maintains a number of stores in the Hudson Valley.

Montgomery Ward & Co., third largest retailer in the U.S., has a new president. He is Edward S. Donnell, who had served as executive vice president. Robert E. Brooker was advanced to the post of chairman and remains chief executive officer.

Montgomery Ward, which has long served the Hudson Valley, maintains a large facility in the fast-growing business area off Route 9W in the Town of Ulster.

Driver Is Unhurt As Vehicle Flips

Joseph Mannese, 36, of 257 First Street, Newburgh, escaped injury at 12:30 a. m. today when a tractor-trailer he was operating went out of control and overturned on its left side on Route 32 at Route 212, Town of Saugerties.

State Trooper Craig Bremer said Mannese was making a right turn from Route 212 when the left front tire blew out causing him to lose control as the vehicle went into a ditch and rolled over on its side.

Troopers Thomas Crowley and Michael Stapleton investigated.

Announce Plans For Realtor Week

This week has been officially designated as Realtor Week, and the members of the Ulster County Board of Realtors have made extensive plans for its celebration, said Peter Weider, the board's president, today.

He announced the Realtors in this area join with their more than 82,000 colleagues across the nation in directing public attention to their calling and the special character of the services they offer.

"A Realtor is not just a real estate man," said Weider. "He is a professional in real estate who subscribes to a strict code of ethics as a member of the local board and of the National Association of Real Estate Boards."

President Weider said Realtors took their code of ethics seriously.

"It was one of the first adopted in the history of American business. Under its 30 articles, covering all aspects of a real estate transaction, the Realtor pledges fair treatment and the full scope of his real estate knowledge to both contracting parties—buyer and seller," Weider said.

He added that Realtor is a coined term and service mark registered with the U. S. Patent Office under the trademark law and as such should always be capitalized. It may be used only by members of NAREB.

The theme of the 1966 Realtor Week is contained in its slogan, "Moving up? Settling Down? See a Realtor," announced Weider.

"This slogan underscores the quality of one of the Realtor's services in finding a larger or better home for an expanding family or a first home for a family," Weider said.

"Two thirds of American families own their own home, a proportion unrivaled virtually anywhere in the world," he continued. "The advantages of home ownership—financially, in convenience, and in security—are obvious. With the many forms of financing available today, any family can invest in its future by 'moving up or settling down,'" President Weider points out.

The Ulster County Board of Realtors was founded over 50 years ago. Its parent group, the National Association of Real Estate Boards, was founded in 1908. With offices in Chicago and Washington, NAREB furnishes Realtors with the latest information in real estate developments, mortgage rates, economic trends, and other business factors.

During Realtor Week the Ulster County Board of Realtors has an attractive display in the window of The Freeman branch office at 239 Fair Street.

Strike in 19th Day

OBIDENBURG, N.Y. (AP)—The Diamond National Corp., makers of matches and paper products, faced a rejected contract offer today as a strike against the firm went into its 19th day.

Local 502, United Papermakers and Paperworkers Union, voted Sunday to reject a third company offer. The strike, which began May 5, has halted production.

Details of the offer were not revealed.

Newsman Killed, 3 Wounded in Viet

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—One newsman was killed covering the war against the Communists in Viet Nam during the weekend. Three others were wounded covering the political strife.

Sam Castan, an award-winning editor of Look magazine, was killed by mortar fire Saturday while covering the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Armored Division's Operation Crazy Horse in the central highlands near An Khe.

Castan, 30, of Brooklyn, N.Y., had covered Viet Nam off and on since 1963. Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalistic fraternity, awarded him its medal for the best magazine reporting of 1964 for articles on Viet Nam.

Castan, who carried the title senior editor, also had covered fighting in Cyprus and the Dominican Republic. He lived in Hong Kong with his wife Frances, and an infant daughter.

He was the seventh correspondent to be killed in the Viet Nam war.

Associated Press correspondent Bob Poos and two other newsmen were wounded Sunday in Da Nang by a grenade thrown by one of the Buddhist rebels opposing Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Poos, 34, from St. Louis, Mo., said he and other newsmen had gone to the rebel headquarters in a Buddhist pagoda after being summoned to a news conference. "But the conference never materialized, and we suspected that something was wrong," he said.

"We left the pagoda with its military and civilian defenders around it. We crossed the line of Buddhist dissidents who were dug in and in manning machine-gun positions. They stared at us grimly as we went by, shouting our call, 'Bao chi, bao chi' (press)."

"We turned around and saw the rebel rifles and machine guns aimed straight at our backs. We walked on with chill in our spines. Then someone shouted a command and firing burst out. We ran for cover into adjacent courtyards."

"Just then a grenade fired by a rebel launcher burst out against a tree. British free lance photographer Tim Page and myself were hit."

"I felt something like a hammer smash into my shoulder. Someone next to me shouted 'God, I'm hit, I can't see.'"

"A Vietnamese civilian came out and led me to a home. Someone put me to bed and treated my wounds."

Neither Serious Poos had two shoulder wounds from shell fragments and a cut hand, but his condition was reported good. Page was struck in the head and Paris Match photographer Ali Taieb was also hit by shell fragments, but neither was reported in serious condition.

Other newsmen rushed back to the press center for help. Three U.S. Marine officers sped to the scene in Jeeps and evacuated the wounded correspondents.

"Later Vietnamese Brig. Gen. Du Quoc Dong told us we were foolish to go to the pagoda. 'It was obviously a ruse to take you as hostages,' he said."

Aldrich Vows Fish Support If Beaten in June Primary

POUGHKEEPSIE.—The most significant difference yet to appear between the two Republican candidates in the 28th District became apparent Saturday night in Poughkeepsie when Town of Beekman Republican Chairman Bailey asked Alexander Aldrich and Hamilton Fish Jr., "What will you do if you lose?"

Fish, who dropped in on the Town of Beekman Women's Republican Club meeting unexpectedly after turning down an invitation to the affair some time ago, said he would go on vacation, and ask his supporters to back Aldrich in his campaign against incumbent Democrat Joseph Y. Resnick.

Aldrich said not only would he ask his people to support Fish, but that he himself would work actively for Fish in order to retire Resnick in November. Aldrich pledged himself to continue living in the 28th Congressional District and to honor his many civic commitments. "I am not living here on a temporary leave from a law office in New York City," Aldrich said.

Fish made no statement about personally working himself in Aldrich's campaign should the 38-year-old Columbia County attorney win the June 28th primary, nor did the Dutchess County candidate for Congress make any promise to continue living in Dutchess County should he lose the primary.

Aldrich appeared at the Town of Beekman Women's Republican club meeting by invitation. Fish also had been invited to speak but had indicated he would be unable to attend because of prior commitments. However, he dropped by late in the evening while Aldrich was still present.

Javits Backs McNamara's Idea Of Draft Choice

NEW YORK (AP)—Compulsory national service by all young American men either in the armed forces or in nonmilitary capacities is proposed by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

Young women, he says, should be encouraged to volunteer for "suitable national service tasks" at home and abroad.

"Draft Is Discriminatory"

Javits made his proposals Sunday night in speaking at a dinner of the Belfer Graduate School of Science of Yeshiva University. He said the Selective Service laws are discriminatory and his proposals are intended to correct the situation.

Under his proposal for young men, Javits said, a possible shortage of manpower could mean that some would be asked to do both nonmilitary and military service.

He said:

"A young man might be expected to do nonmilitary service and then military service if we ran out of manpower for the military, but it would never be the other way—he would not be asked to serve in a nonmilitary capacity if he had already served in a military one."

Javits suggested service should be a minimum of two years unless Congress set a longer term.

Urges Action by Johnson

President Johnson, he said, should send legislation to Congress "at the very earliest possible moment" to put the concept of universal national service into effect.

He gave these examples of nonmilitary service: the Peace Corps VISTA, the Domestic Peace Corps; the Public Health Service, and the Agency for International Development.

Also, Javits said, work "in specialized and specifically designated community social welfare agencies, and work in certain area of science and technology certainly should be made eligible under certain conditions."

Javits said he "liked" a similar proposal made last week by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. McNamara suggested that every young person be asked to give two years' service in the armed forces, the Peace Corps or some other voluntary work.

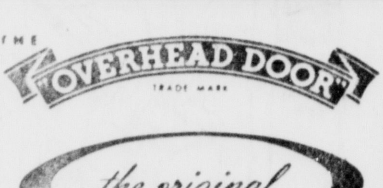

Volunteers Wouldn't Work

Javits said he does not feel that a volunteer program would "work as a practical matter."

His proposal "that universal national service be made compulsory for young men, giving them the option of selecting what form it should take within permissible categories established by the government."

Asks Accurate Figures

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Leader, Joshua Ellberg called on the Scranton administration today to come up with more accurate estimates on anticipated revenues.

"The revenues are running more than seven per cent ahead of estimates," the Philadelphia Democrat said. "If this money is available now let's put it to use."

Ellberg said the Republican administration seemed to be keeping an eye on the November gubernatorial election and was endeavoring "to make itself look good by building up a surplus."
